

BASIC OUTLINE OF AN EXEGETICAL PAPER

Cover Page

1. Title which includes key terms/concepts of study, and reference to passage under discussion
2. Author
3. Date
4. Provenance if desired

Introduction (the Plan)

1. Topic
2. Thesis statement
3. Assumptions and other pertinent background information (e.g., author, audience, date, provenance, rhetorical situation, historical event(s) that provided the "occasion" for the text)
4. A brief "history of research" on your passage (designed to segue into your argument and establish why it is significant)
5. Methodology—what approach you will take toward the text (e.g., historical, liberationist, social-scientific) and why
6. A sketch of how you will proceed in proving your thesis

Body (the Argument)

1. Argument establishing your views about the text-critical, literary, rhetorical, and historical aspects of the passage
2. How the passage fits into its literary context
3. Form, source, and other historical critical issues (other than your main method) and how they shed light on the passage and shape your application of the main method (remember to explicitly name each method when you use it)
4. Application of the contemporary, critical exegetical method(s) you have decided to "feature" in this investigation, and discussion of how it resolves current issues of scholarly debate
5. Exposition of what/how the text meant to its original audience
6. Analysis of the ethical or theological implications of your exegesis for a specific contemporary audience of your choice

Conclusion

1. How your thesis has been proven
2. Remaining issues/opportunities for further research

HEADINGS & REFERENCES

HIERARCHY OF HEADINGS

If fewer than five levels of headings are needed, any of the following may be omitted, but the ones used must follow this order.

1. Centered, underlined or boldface, capitalized
2. Centered, not underlined or in bold, capitalized
3. Left side heading, underlined or boldface, caps-headline
4. Left side heading, not underlined or bold, capitalized sentence style - eg: The Gospel as it related to Jesus.
5. Run into paragraph & underlined or in boldface, cap. sentence style eg: The gospel legalized in the Church. The gospel that....

WHAT NEEDS A REFERENCE?

Students often struggle with when and how to document outside materials they incorporate into research papers. The rules are new and sometimes confusing when first encountered. To provide some practice applying the principles, here are some examples that are at the same time familiar, perhaps a tad bit funny, and very instructive.

Rules

1. Do not document:
 1. Your own ideas about what you read
 2. Minor details
 3. Your own editorializing
2. Do document:
 1. All quotations
 2. All paraphrases
 3. All ideas you learned from someone else
 4. Facts from the reading that you are using to make an argument concerning how to interpret the text

A Broadening Conversation Melody Layton McMahon, David R. Stewart, 2006-05-26 As the American Theological Library Association ATLA celebrates the important milestone of its 60th anniversary this year the editors have brought together in a single volume anthology some of the best contributions to this field Essays and papers from the past sixty years are grouped into six topical chapters theological librarianship's characteristics dimensions educational role settings development within ATLA's sixty years and most noteworthy changes each of which is introduced by a present day theological librarian This collection is likely to be valuable in many ways as a compendium of wisdom and best practices over several generations as a means of securing a grasp of how ATLA's importance and influence as an association has grown over time and even for the way it brings back to light the life and work of so many fine librarians Raymond Morris Yale Divinity Library and Julia Pettee Union Theological Seminary among them Even more important A Broadening Conversation affirms vividly that instead of the ethos of tradition and continuity that one might suppose a mix of trusted routines with perpetual change is what has always been on the menu for theological librarians in their daily work This is at the heart of what continues to make theological librarianship such a challenging and rewarding vocation

Prima Scriptura N. Clayton Croy, 2011-04-01 In this volume an expert teacher of the Bible provides an introduction to New Testament exegesis that will appeal to students across the spectrum Clayton Croy begins with the preparation of the interpreter proceeds to analysis of the text and concludes with appropriation of the message of Scripture in the context of modern faith communities He combines a step by step plan for historical exegesis with substantive discussion of broader hermeneutical issues The book interacts with recent scholarship and is academically rigorous but is written in an engaging style incorporating anecdotes humor scriptural illustrations and examples of the practical payoff of disciplined interpretation Each chapter includes discussion questions and suggestions for further reading

Quality Research Papers Nancy J. Vyhmeister, 2001 A guide to writing theological research papers covering all aspects of the process ranging from choosing a topic to organizing and formatting the paper

First-Century Gospel Storytellers and Audiences Thomas E. Boomershine, 2022-07-29 These essays explore the reconception of the Gospels as first century compositions of sound performed for audiences by storytellers rather than the anachronistic picture of a series of texts read by individual readers The new paradigm implicit in these initial experiments is based on the recent realization that the majority of persons 85 to 95 percent were illiterate and experienced the Jesus stories as members of audiences Either from memory or from memorized manuscripts the evangelists performed the Gospels as an evening's entertainment of two to four hours The audiences were predominantly addressed as Hellenistic Judeans who lived in the aftermath of the Roman Jewish war When heard whole the Gospels were vivid experiences of the central character of Jesus These studies of audience address and the interactions between first century storytellers and audiences reveal a dynamic performance literature that functioned as scripts for an ever expanding network of storytelling proclamations whose envisioned horizon was the whole world When the Gospels were told at one time from beginning to end they invited the listeners to move from being peripherally interested or initially opposed to Jesus to identifying themselves as disciples of Jesus and believers in him as the Messiah

A Study Companion to the Bible Anthony Le Donne, Jerry L. Sumney, 2014 Jerry L. Sumney's The Bible An Introduction offers clear answers to the most basic questions that first time students and curious inquirers bring to the Bible The Study Companion is a handy complement to the textbook providing primary readings and a running glossary of terms keyed to the textbook along with exercises for further reflection

Barcode 30112114015735 and Others, 1907 A Commentary on Romans John D. Harvey, 2019-03-26 An exegetical and practical commentary for pastors and teachers This volume in the Kregel Exegetical Library combines up to date scholarship and concrete application to serve as an ideal guide for preaching and teaching the foundational New Testament book of Romans After an in depth introduction that surveys the book s key elements reception history literary devices and current scholarly debates John D Harvey provides a thorough explanation of every verse of Romans followed by theological insights and hands on takeaways Readers will benefit from Harvey s approach which asks and answers three questions about each verse 1 What did Paul say 2 Why did he say it 3 What should I do with it Outlines and summaries provide useful homiletical and pedagogical tools while footnotes point to resources for further study To what End Exegesis? Gordon D. Fee, 2001

This insightful work amply demonstrates Fee s mastery of the exegetical task and illustrates the goal of exegesis in the service of both academy and church He explores a wide range of concerns for readers and interpreters of the New Testament

Critical and Exegetical Hand-book to the Epistle to the Romans Heinrich August Wilhelm Meyer, 1884 Quality Research Papers Nancy Jean Vyhmeister, 2009-06-26 Nancy Vyhmeister s Quality Research Papers is fast becoming a standard reference textbook for writing research papers in the field of religion and theology It takes the student from the beginning assignment of a paper through the research phase to the finished paper This second edition gives improvements and added material for such things as the expanding field of online research and doing church related research in a professional manner Resources for doing research are updated throughout the book Biblical Exegesis, Third Edition John H. Hayes, Carl R. Holladay, 2007-03-19 John Hayes and Carl Holladay have thoroughly revised and expanded this best selling textbook adding new chapters on emerging methods of interpretation and the use of computer technology for exegesis All bibliographies have been updated and Scripture has been converted to the NRSV This new edition retains the features of the early editions a minimum of technical terms solid introductory guidelines in exegetical methods and a valuable presentation of exegetical theory and practice It is ideal for general introductory exegesis courses introductions to the Old and New Testaments and introduction to preaching as well as for pastors and lay leaders The Nature and Method of Biblical Exegesis George M. Landes, 1973 Depth Psychology and Mysticism Thomas Cattoi, David M. Odorisio, 2018-05-16 Since the late 19th century when the new science of psychology and interest in esoteric and occult phenomena converged leading to the discovery of the unconscious the dual disciplines of depth psychology and mysticism have been wed in an often unholy union Continuing in this tradition and the challenges it carries this volume includes a variety of inter disciplinary approaches to the study of depth psychology mysticism and mystical experience spanning the fields of theology religious studies and the psychology of religion Chapters include inquiries into the nature of self and consciousness questions regarding the status and limits of mysticism and mystical phenomenon and approaches to these topics from multiple depth psychological traditions
