Blouin, 2025-04-15 Over the past thirty years Stephen King has received enormous attention from both the popular press as well as academics seeking to explain the unique phenomenon of his success Books on King explore his canon in religious contexts in political and historical contexts in mythic specifically Jungian contexts in Gothic horror especially American literary contexts and in a wide variety of other contexts appropriate to a writer who over the past half century has become America's Storyteller Beginning with a never published chapter authored by Stephen King himself on the influence of the genre on his own writing King Noir makes an invaluable contribution to King scholarship by placing King s works in conversation with American crime fiction This is the third book that Tony Magistrale and Michael J Blouin have coauthored on the work of Stephen King and the first to consider King s canon through the lens of crime fiction King Noir examines not only King's own efforts at writing in the detective genre but also how the detective genre finds its way into work typically regarded as horror fiction In interviews King has acknowledged his debt to earlier writers in the genre such as Ed McBain and Raymond Chandler and he much more often references hard boiled writers than he does horror writers One could speculate that King became a writer because of his love of pulpy crime fiction which he continues to hold in high esteem From The Dead Zone to Mr Mercedes from the crime fiction of his pseudonym Richard Bachman to his most recent novel Holly King returns obsessively to patterns established by American sleuths of every stripe paying homage to them at the same time as he innovates on the formulas he has inherited To focus upon a hard boiled Stephen King is to discover exciting new avenues for inquiry into one of America's most enduring and adaptable storytellers The Urban Condition Ghent Urban Studies Team, 1999 What does the Western city at the end of the twentieth century look like How did the modern metropolis of congestion and density turn into a posturban or even postsuburban cityscape What are edge cities and technoburbs How has the social composition of cities changed in the postwar era What do gated communities tell us about social fragmentation Is public space in the contemporary city being privatized and militarized How can the urban self still be defined What role does consumer aestheticism have to play in this These and many more questions are addressed by this uniquely conceived multidisciplinary study The Urban Condition seeks to interfere in current debates over the future and interpretation of our urban landscapes by reuniting studies of the city as a physical and material phenomenon and as a cultural and mental arte fact The Ghent Urban Studies Team responsible for the writing and editing of this volume is directed by Kristiaan Versluys and Dirk De Meyer at the University of Ghent Belgium It is an interdisciplinary research team of young academics that further consists of Kristiaan Borret Bart Eeckhout Steven Jacobs and Bart Keunen The collective expertise of GUST ranges from architectural theory urban planning and art history to philosophy literary criticism and cultural theory
