Roaming, Wandering, Deviation and Error Mayra Helena Alves Olalquiaga, 2016-03-08 This book proposes a reading of John Milton's epic Paradise Lost in relation to four novels by the contemporary novelist Salman Rushdie The Satanic Verses The Moor's Last Sigh Fury and The Ground Beneath Her Feet In such a reading terms such as influence and inheritance will inevitably come up Rather than bypass them the book refines such terms in order to meet some of the challenges posed by contemporary critical theory in the field of comparative studies In this more nuanced comparative reading of these texts which looks beyond a linear paradigm Jacques Derrida's term destinerrance is taken up as a means for thinking how the work of this successor Rushdie dialogues with Milton conferring on the epic an elusive kind of afterlife Destinerrance will be taken here to signal an ongoing process of re-signification of texts that does away with the notions of adhesion or similarity to an original central point In the case of Milton and his successor the fictional work of Salman Rushdie will be seen as constituting sites in which collaboration and contestation in relation to the epic are simultaneously and continually staged Rushdie can then be seen to interweave Miltonic images of Eden of the fall and a Satanic discourse of transgression to write territories and characters constituted in the crossings of domains of difference territories in which colonial past and contemporary cultural formations and power structures are continually questioned and negotiated In this way his work enacts a re-signifying of Milton's text mediating in these deviations the way it reaches us today
