Programmatic EIS, East St. Louis and Vicinity, Ecosystem Restoration and Flood Damage Reduction Project, Madison and St. Clair Counties ,2004 Southern Wonder R. Scot Duncan,Edward O. Wilson,2013-11-08 Southern Wonder explores Alabama s amazing biological diversity the reasons for the large number of species in the state and the importance of their preservation Alabama ranks fifth in the nation in number of species of plants and animals found in the state surpassed only by the much larger western states of California Texas Arizona and New Mexico When all the species of birds trees mammals reptiles amphibians fishes wildflowers dragonflies tiger beetles and ants are tallied Alabama harbors more species than 90 percent of the other states in the United States Alabamais particularly rich in aquatic biodiversity leading the nation in species of freshwater fishes turtles mussels crayfish snails damselflies and carnivorous plants The state also hosts an exceptional number of endemic species those not found beyond its borders ranking seventh in the nation with 144 species The state s 4 533 species with more being inventoried and discovered each year are supported by no less than 64 distinct ecological systems each a unique blend of soil water sunlight heat and natural disturbance regimes Habitats include dry forests moist forests swamp forests sunny prairies grassy barrens scorching glades rolling dunes and bogs filled with pitcher plants and sundews The state also includes a region of subterranean ecosystems that are more elaborate and species rich than any other place on the continent Although Alabama is teeming with life the state s prominence as a refuge for plants and animals is poorly appreciated Even among Alabama s citizens few outside a small circle of biologists advocates and other naturalists understand the special quality of the state s natural heritage R Scot Duncan rectifies this situation in Southern Wonder by providing a well written comprehensive overview that the general public policy makers and teachers can understand and use Readers are taken on an exploratory journey of the state s varied landscapes from the Tennessee River Valley to the coastal dunes and are introduced to remarkable species such as the cave salamander and the beach mouse By interweaving the disciplines of ecology evolution meteorology and geology into an accessible whole Duncan explains clearly why Alabama is so biotically rich and champions efforts for its careful preservation Published in Cooperation with The Nature Conservancy The Intuitive Parent Stephen Camarata, Ph.D.,2017-06-13 You already have everything

Jacques-Emile Dubois, Nahum Gershon, 2012-12-06 J E DUBOIS and N GERSHON As with Volume 1 in this series this book was inspired by the Symposium on Communications and Computer Aided Systems held at the 14th International CODATA Conference in September 1994 in Chambéry France This book was conceived and influenced by the discussions at the Symposium and most of the contributions were written following the Conference Whereas the first volume dealt with the numerous challenges facing the information revolution especially its communication aspects this one provides an insight into the recent tools provided by computer science for handling the complex aspects of scientific and technological data This volume Modeling Complex Data for Creating Information is concerned with real and virtual objects often involved with data handling processes encountered frequently in modeling physical phenomena and systems behavior Topics concerning modeling complex data for creating information include Object oriented approach for structuring data and knowledge Imprecision and uncertainty in information systems Fractal modeling and shape and surface processing Symmetry applications for molecular data The choice of these topics reflects recent developments in information systems technologies One example is object oriented technology Recently research development and applications have been using object oriented modeling for computer handling of data and data management Object oriented technology offers increasingly easy to use

Facing South David Bowman, Anita Parlow, Carl Abbott, Wayne Greenhaw, Allen Tullos, John Siceloff, Bill Finger, Valerie Quinney, Chip Hughes, Alvin Rosenbaum, Susan Moss, Throughout the country and even this region people view the South through myth and stereotype It is not surprising If they turn to newspapers to television and radio to popular films and literature to most history books and folklore they encounter these distortions They find insulting portraits of Southerners whitewashed presentations of southern economics and politics selective visions of history misunderstandings of relationships between people and between people and their land and work Many trivial qualities are romanticized other important ones are totally ignored Blacks are presented only as victims of racism and labor struggles are completely forgotten This view is inevitable when people simply treat the South as an aberration of mainstream America or a remnant of some past culture We at Southern Exposure look at the South from another perspective This is our home we are of it and examine it that we may know more of ourselves and our neighbors These are the politics and culture that surround us and affect us daily that we must analyze praise and attack so our lives can grow and prosper And this is the ground from which we must view the larger world By listening to local tobacco farmers discuss the pressures on them to expand or die we can better understand Earl Butz's plan for US agribusiness By hearing a bluesman's story we come to appreciate how a particular culture evolves from material hardship and inspires immense creativity
