Ate Eol 2000 G 10 Holt Rinehart & Winston,2000 Reordering Nature Celia Deane-Drummond,Bronislaw Szerszynski,Robin Grove-White,2003-02-01 In this book experts in the environment theology and science argue that the challenge posed to society by biotechnology lies not only in terms of risk benefit analysis of individual genetic technologies and interventions but also has implications for the way we think about human identity and our relationship to the natural world Such a profound they would suggest religious challenge requires a response that is genuinely interdisciplinary in nature a conversation that draws as much on expertise in theology and philosophy as on the natural sciences and risk assessment techniques They argue that an adequate response must also be sociologically informed in at least two ways First it must draw on contemporary sociological insights about contemporary cultural change the complex role of expert knowledge in modern complex society and the specific social dynamics of contemporary technological risks Secondly it must endeavour to pay sensitive attention to the voice of the lay public in the current controversy over the new genetics This book attempts to realise such an aim as a contribution not just to academic scholarship but also to the public debate about biotechnology and its regulation Thus the collection includes contributions from scholars in a range of intellectual domains indeed many of the chapters themselves draw on more than one discipline in new and challenging ways The book invites the reader to enter into this conversation in a creative way and come to appreciate more fully the many sided nature of the debate
