

Reflection/Transmission

1. a. Sketch the pulse as it moves into the medium with a lower wave speed following through a fixed end.

- b. Sketch the pulse as it moves into a fixed end following through a free end.

2. The diagram on the right shows a pulse travelling from a "light" string to a "heavy" string. Reflections follow from the interface and transmission follows. Complete the diagram with the pulse.

- b. Draw the pulse as it travels after reflecting from the free end.

3. The diagram on the right shows a pulse travelling from a "heavy" string to a "light" string. Complete the diagram with the pulse following reflection from the interface.

- b. Draw the pulse as it travels after reflecting from the free end.

Now draw the pulse following reflection from the free end. This may seem to require the pulse to be inverted. This is not correct. The pulse will be inverted when it reflects from a fixed end but not when it reflects from a free end. Complete the diagram.

4. Sketch a pulse in a light rope approaching a heavy rope. Complete the two rope system just after the pulse hits the end.

5. The right rope is an infinite rope extending to the right. Complete the diagram.

6. If the right rope is the heavy rope, what will the diagram look like just after the pulse has reached the rope? Is the pulse inverted when it reflects? Is the pulse inverted when it transmits?

7. If the left rope is the heavy rope, complete the diagram just after the pulse has reached the interface.
