business schools more generally continues to grow it is essential that teachers and students analyse their established strategy for decision making The successful use of case studies in business schools shows the superior outcomes of an interdisciplinary approach to problem solving Disappointingly functional departmental silos within universities still exist and keep problem solvers from seeing all the effects of a given issue In addition to providing teaching material Decision Making in Marketing and Finance provides motives and strategies to break down functional silos in making informed and effective business and finance decisions Koku achieves his goal by showing how value can be created for shareholders and other stakeholders linking marketing and finance decision making and providing much needed teaching materials for an interdisciplinary approach to case analysis Jablonski V. The dilemma is how to choose between efficiency and security The first option is the logical choice but mans uncanny ability to do harm has led many high ranking officials to warn against the vulnerability of the grid Obviously life would essentially stop if the grid is brought down by a major cyberattack Abuse of power by men over women is still dominant in some parts of the world On a different scale the Communist parties in China Vietnam and North Korea have a tight rein on more than 1 3 billion people
