R. G. Conzen,2004 This book explores various ways of identifying and understanding the character of historic townscapes from a systematic and comparative perspective It outlines several genetic approaches to the study of urban form grounded in the traditions of geographical analysis but wholly interdisciplinary in their content and implications It develops a philosophical and methodological basis for the field of urban morphology stressing the reciprocal relations between town plan building fabric and land and building utilisation It views these elements as spatially variable accumulations and selective survivals of forms regulated by shifting patterns of corporate and individual decisions made from one historical period to another in perpetual tension between resistance and change Several of the essays in this collection establish and exemplify conceptual principles and axioms of urban morphological development in historic towns and introduce numerous specific processes by which built forms are created and juxtaposed in urban space Other essays apply these precepts by interpreting a number of case studies of historic towns in Britain Germany Japan New Zealand and elsewhere The closing essay offers a unique interpretation of the regional varieties to be found in medieval European urbanism based on differing traditions of social formation and morphological outcomes

Theorizing Visual Studies James Elkins, 2013 This forward thinking collection brings together over sixty essays that invoke images to summon interpret and argue with visual studies and its neighboring fields such as art history media studies visual anthropology critical theory cultural studies and aesthetics The product of a multi year collaboration between graduate students from around the world spearheaded by James Elkins this one of a kind anthology is a truly international interdisciplinary point of entry into cutting edge visual studies research The book is fluid in relation to disciplines it is frequently inventive in relation to guiding theories it is unpredictable in its allegiance and interest in the past of the discipline reflecting the ongoing growth of visual studies
