Debates in Geography Education Mark Jones, David Lambert, 2017-09-07 Debates in Geography Education encourages early career teachers, experienced teachers and teacher educators to engage with and reflect on key issues, concepts and debates. It aims to enable readers to reach their own informed judgements with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding. The second edition is fully updated in light of the latest research, policy and practice in the field as well as key changes to the curriculum and examination specifications. Expert contributors provide a range of perspectives on international, historical and policy contexts in order to deepen our understanding of significant debates in geography education. Key debates include geography's identity as an academic discipline, what constitutes knowledge in geography, places and regional geography, what it means to think geographically, constructing the curriculum, how we link assessment to making progress in geography, the contribution of fieldwork and outdoor experiences, technology and the use of Geographical Information Systems, school geography and employability, understanding the gap between school and university geography, evidence-based practice and research in geography education. The comprehensive, rigorous coverage of these key issues together with carefully annotated selected further reading will help support and shape further research and writing. Debates in Geography Education is a key resource that is essential reading for all teachers and researchers who wish to extend their grasp of the place of geography in education. Mark Jones is Senior Lecturer in Education at the University of the West of England, Bristol, UK. David Lambert is Professor of Geography Education at UCL Institute of Education, London, UK. Handbook of International Trade and Transportation Bruce A. Blonigen, Wesley W. Wilson, 2018-01-26 International trade has grown rapidly over the past half century, accommodated by the transportation industry through concomitant growth and technological change. But while the connection between transport and trade flows is clear, the academic literature often looks at these two issues separately. This Handbook is unique in pulling together the key insights of each field while highlighting what we know about their intersection and ideas for future research in this relatively unexamined but growing area of study.

Sappho's Legacy Marina Karides, 2021-04-01 Winner of the 2023 Gourmand Cookbook Award for Greece in the Women's Category. Imaginatively interweaving literatures across a variety of subjects, Sappho's Legacy identifies the crucial role that islands and Greek economic culture play in teaching about capitalism's failures and alternatives. Marina Karides delivers a historical and ethnographic account of food cooperatives and microenterprises on the Greek island of Lesbos following the 2008 financial crisis to reveal the success stories of grassroots, traditional and community-centered economics organized by people marginalized on the basis of gender, sexuality and ethnicity. Karides offers hope to others who are working against the tide of neoliberalism and heteropatriarchy to develop alternative or convivial economic practices that serve communities by providing a trail of rhythms from ancient times to the present that showcase Greece's historical resistance. A Guide to the Systems of Provision Approach Kate Bayliss, Ben Fine, 2021-01-04 Understanding consumption requires looking at the systems by which goods and services are provided not just how they are produced but the historically evolved structures power relations and cultures within which they are located The Systems of Provision approach provides an interdisciplinary framework for unpacking these complex issues This book provides a comprehensive account of the Systems of Provision approach setting out core concepts and theoretical origins alongside numerous case studies The book combines fresh understandings of everyday consumption using examples from food housing and water with implications for society's major challenges including inequality climate change and prospects for capitalism Readers do not require prior knowledge across the subject matter covered but the text remains significant for accomplished researchers and policymakers especially those interested in the messy real world realities underpinning who gets what how and why across public and private provision in global national and historical contexts

The Oxford Handbook of the Economics of Networks Yann Bramoullé, Andrea Galeotti, Brian W. Rogers, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of the Economics of Networks represents the frontier of research into how and why networks they form how they influence behavior how they help govern outcomes in an interactive world and how they shape collective decision making opinion formation and diffusion dynamics From a methodological perspective the contributors to this volume devote attention to theory field experiments laboratory experiments and econometrics Theoretical work in network formation games played on networks repeated games and the interaction between linking and behavior is synthesized A number of chapters are devoted to studying social process mediated by networks Topics here include opinion formation diffusion of information and disease and learning There are also chapters devoted to financial contagion and systemic risk motivated in part by the recent financial crises Another section discusses communities with applications including social trust favor exchange and social collateral the importance of communities for migration patterns and the role that networks and communities play in the labor market A prominent role of networks from an economic perspective is that they mediate trade Several chapters cover bilateral trade in networks strategic intermediation and the role of networks in international trade Contributions discuss as well the role of networks for organizations On the one hand one chapter discusses the role of networks for the performance of organizations while two other chapters discuss managing networks of consumers and pricing in the presence of network based spillovers Finally the authors discuss the internet as a network with attention to the issue of net neutrality

Geographies of Mobility Mei-Po Kwan, Tim Schwanen, 2018-10-11 This book seeks to bring together different philosophical theoretical and methodological approaches to the study of human mobility within the discipline of geography With five thematic sections conceptualizing and analyzing mobility inequalities of mobility politics of mobility decentering mobility and qualifying abstraction and 27 substantive chapters by leading researchers in the field it provides a comprehensive overview of the latest thinking about human mobility and related issues The contributors discuss mobility issues as diverse as everyday mobilities of young people migrants and refugees and sex workers the relationships between citizenship and mobility and the potential and pitfalls of big data for understanding mobility This coupled with a broad international focus means that Geographies of Mobility will not only encourage and enrich dialogue on a theme that is of major importance to varied geographic research communities but will also be of great interest to students and researchers across the wider social sciences This book was originally published as a special issue of Annals of the American Association of Geographers

Making Use of Deleuze in Planning Gareth Abrahams, 2016-10-04 Making Use of Deleuze in Planning translates and re creates some of Gilles Deleuze's most abstract philosophical concepts to form a new practicable planning assessment tool It shows what his philosophy can do for planning theory as well as planning assessment practice and in doing so sets out a pragmatic approach to Deleuzian studies one that helps form bridges between ontological problems and the problems found in professional practice It also breaks new ground in assessment methodology by challenging the essentialist ideas underpinning assessment methods like BREEAM and setting out and testing a new form of non essentialist assessment named SIAM The book argues that Deleuze's philosophy can be made useful to planning as long as one is prepared to adapt and re create his key ontological concepts to respond to the specific demands of the field

Placing Outer Space Lisa Messeri, 2016-09-22 In Placing Outer Space Lisa Messeri traces how the place making practices of planetary scientists transform the void of space into a cosmos filled with worlds that can be known and explored Making planets into places is central to the daily practices and professional identities of the astronomers geologists and computer scientists Messeri studies She takes readers to the Mars Desert Research Station and a NASA research center to discuss ways scientists experience and map Mars At a Chilean observatory and in MIT's labs she describes how they discover exoplanets and envision what it would be like to inhabit them Today's planetary science reveals the universe as densely inhabited by evocative worlds which in turn tells us more about Earth ourselves and our place in the universe

Law and the Management of Disasters Alexia Herwig, Marta Simoncini, 2016-12-01 Disasters raise serious challenges for contemporary legal orders they demand significant management but usually amidst massive disruption to the normal functioning of state authority and society When dealing with disasters law has traditionally focused on contingency planning and recovery More recently however resilience has emerged as a key concept in effective disaster management policies and strategies aiming at minimising the impact of events so that the normal functioning of society and the state can be preserved This book analyses the contribution of law to resilience building by looking at law's role in the different phases of the disaster regulatory process risk assessment risk management emergency intervention and recovery More specifically it addresses how law can effectively contribute to resilience oriented disaster management policies and what legal instruments can support effective resilience building

The Financialisation of Power Sarah Bracking, 2016-05-05

The financial crash of 2008 led people all over the world to ask how far financiers are in control of our lives To what extent does what they do with our money affect our everyday lives This book asks whether the crisis and subsequent use of public subsidies to help the international economy recover was a unique event or a symptom of a wider malaise where financiers have effectively usurped the power of governments and are running the political economy themselves The Financialisation of Power in Africa argues that growth is not always a good thing The development of more derivatives and faster financial exchanges are draining businesses of investment capital rather than serving to supply it applying financial logic does not save nature or protect biodiversity and other species This book outlines the concept of financialisation and how it has been used in various ways to explain the post 2008 crisis and global political economy There is a particular focus on these issues in reference to Africa which has a particular dependence on international money It takes the perspective of the modern state exploring how the political economy of development actually works in relation to African governance This book is of interest to students of international development and political economy and is a key source for policy makers interested in African studies and economic development
