It aims to enable readers to reach their own informed judgements with deeper theoretical knowledge and understanding. The second edition is fully updated in light of the latest research, policy and practice in the field as well as key changes to the curriculum and examination specifications. Expert contributors provide a range of perspectives on international, historical and policy contexts in order to deepen our understanding of significant debates in geography education. Key debates include geography's identity as an academic discipline, what constitutes knowledge in geography, places and regional geography, what it means to think geographically, constructing the curriculum, how we link assessment to making progress in geography, the contribution of fieldwork and outdoor experiences, technology and the use of Geographical Information Systems, school geography and employability, understanding the gap between school and university geography, evidence-based practice and research in geography education. The comprehensive, rigorous coverage of these key issues together with carefully annotated selected further reading will help support and shape further research and writing. Debates in Geography Education is a key resource that is essential reading for all teachers and researchers who wish to extend their grasp of the place of geography in education. Mark Jones is Senior Lecturer in Education at the University of the West of England, Bristol, UK. David Lambert is Professor of Geography Education at UCL Institute of Education, London, UK.

Geography Education Research in the UK: Retrospect and Prospect Graham Butt, 2019-08-22 This book provides a unique assessment of the development of research in geography education and its future prospects, offering a challenging critique of subject-based education research with particular reference to geography education across a range of different jurisdictions. It covers a range of topics including the changing role of research in geography education, the relationship between education research and professional practice with special reference to geography education research, the place of academic subject knowledge in geography education research, critiques of the functions of research in geography education and the key issues for education transport systems in a sustainable manner However a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions noise and air pollution and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations activities services and goods Thus access is the ultimate objective of transportation As a result urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme UN Habitat the world's leading authority on urban issues provides some thought provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up to date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World The Challenge of Slums Financing Urban Shelter Enhancing Urban Safety and Security Planning Sustainable Cities and Cities and Climate Change
