

Factual Historical Recounts - Purpose

- The purpose of a historical recount (factual) is to retell a particular historical event and explain its significance using facts.
- Unlike personal recounts, the writer of a historical recount does not need to be personally involved in the event they are writing about.
- You might write a historical recount about:
 - a famous battle
 - the reign of a monarch
 - the development of an invention
 - an event which changed society.

Rodgers, Kristine Moruzi, 2024-04-30 Since the publication of the first children's periodical in the 1750s magazines have been an affordable and accessible way for children to read and form virtual communities Despite the range of children's periodicals that exist they have not been studied to the same extent as children's literature The Edinburgh History of Children's Periodicals marks the first major history of magazines for young people from the mid eighteenth century to the present Bringing together periodicals from Britain Ireland North America Australia New Zealand and India this book explores the roles of gender race and national identity in the construction of children as readers and writers It provides new insights both into how child readers shaped the magazines they read and how magazines have encouraged children to view themselves as political and world subjects Wellington Square Pat Hughes, 2000 The Teachers Book is an invaluable resource providing planning grids for each book which integrate reading and writing teaching strategies ICT related tasks homework activities and class follow up activities The planning guides offer suggestions for before during and after reading

History and the Construction of the Child in Early British Children's Literature Jackie C. Horne, 2016-04-22 How did the flat characters of eighteenth century children's literature become round by the mid nineteenth While previous critics have pointed to literary Romanticism for an explanation Jackie C Horne argues that this shift can be better understood by looking to the discipline of history Eighteenth century humanism believed the purpose of history was to teach private and public virtue by creating idealized readers to emulate Eighteenth century children's literature with its impossibly perfect protagonists and its equally imperfect villains echoes history's exemplar goals Exemplar history however came under increasing pressure during the period and the resulting changes in historiographical practice an increased need for reader engagement and the widening of history's purview to include the morals manners and material lives of everyday people find their mirror in changes in fiction for children Horne situates hitherto neglected Robinsonades historical novels and fictionalized histories within the cultural social and political contexts of the period to trace the ways in which idealized characters gradually gave way to protagonists who fostered readers sympathetic engagement Horne's study will be of interest to specialists in children's literature the history of education and book history Re/reading the past J.R.

Martin, Ruth Wodak, 2003-11-17 Re reading the Past is concerned with the discourses of history from the complementary perspectives of Critical Discourse Analysis CDA and Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL The papers in the book stress the discursive construction of the past focussing on the different social narratives which compete for official acknowledgement Issues of collective and cultural memory are addressed reflecting the linguistic turn in the Social Sciences The book covers a range of discourses interpreting texts from popular culture to academic discourse including the construction and evaluation of past events in a variety of places around the world It is especially timely in its focus on the construction of time and value in a post colonial world where history discourses are central to on going processes of reconciliation debates on war crimes and the issues of amnesty and restitution As such the book fills a significant gap in interdisciplinary debates as well as in register and genre analysis and will be of general interest to historians political scientists and discourse analysts as well as students and teachers of ESP English for Specific Purposes and EAP English for Academic Purposes Talk for Writing
