It describes basic reliability concepts, parametric ALT plans, failure mechanism and design and reliability testing with acceleration factor and sample size equation. A generalized life stress failure model with a new effort concept has been derived and recommended to calculate the acceleration factor of the mechanical system which is discussed in the book and should help companies to improve product reliability and avoid recalls due to product structure failures in the field. As the faulty designs of mechanical products are experimentally identified by this new reliability design method, parametric ALT the mechanical/civil engineering system might improve in reliability by the increase in lifetime and the reduction in failure rate. This book offers a thorough exploration of design concepts for professional engineers, college and university level lecturers, researchers and design managers specializing in reliability. It is also beneficial for senior level undergraduates and graduates studying mechanical, industrial and civil engineering.
