Building Mobile Experiences Frank Bentley, Edward Barrett, 2012-09-14 Methods for new mobile experiences from concept creation to prototyping to commercialization The mobile device is changing the ways we interact with each other and with the world The mobile experience is distinct from the desktop or laptop experience mobile apps require a significantly different design philosophy as well as design methods that reflect the unique experience of computing in the world This book presents an approach to designing mobile media that takes advantage of the Internet connected context aware and media sharing capabilities of mobile devices It introduces tools that can be used at every stage of building a mobile application from concept creation to commercialization as well as real world examples from industry and academia The methods outlined apply user centered design processes to mobile devices in a way that makes these methods relevant to the mobile experience which involves the use of systems in the complex spatial and social world rather than at a desk The book shows how each project begins with generative research into the practices and desires of a diverse set of potential users which grounds research and design in the real world It then describes methods for rapid prototyping usability evaluation field testing and scaling up solutions in order to bring a product to market Building Mobile Experiences grew out of an MIT course in communicating with mobile technology it is appropriate for classroom use and as a reference for mobile app designers
