Moving Health Sovereignty In Africa Global Environmental Governance:

Moving Health Sovereignty in Africa Dr Hany Besada, Professor Andrew F Cooper, Professor Franklyn Lisk, Professor John J. Kirton, 2014-10-28 Today's era of intense globalization has unleashed dynamic movements of people, pathogens and pests that overwhelm the static territorial jurisdictions on which the governance provided by sovereign states and their formal intergovernmental institutions is based. This world of movement calls for new ideas and institutions to govern people's health above all in Africa where the movements and health challenges are the most acute. This book insightfully explores these challenges in ways that put the perspectives of Africans themselves at centre stage. It begins with the long central and still compelling African health challenge of combating the pandemic of HIV/AIDS. It then examines the global governance responses by the major multilateral organizations of the World Bank and the World Trade Organization and the newer informal flexible democratically oriented ones of the Group of Eight. It also addresses the compounding health challenge created by climate change to assess both its intensifying impact on Africa and how all international institutions have largely failed to link climate and health in their governance response. It concludes with several recommendations about the innovative ideas and institutions that offer a way to closing the great global governance gaps and thus improving Africans' health and that of citizens beyond.

The G8-G20 Relationship in Global Governance Marina Larionova, John J. Kirton, 2016-03-03 If the growing demand for global governance breathed new life into the established G7/8 and the more recent G20, it raised questions about the evolving and optimal relationship between them. One answer arose from the G20's third summit when it proclaimed the G20 would govern global finance and economics while the old G8 would focus on development and security. Yet this rough division of labour did not address which issues lay within each category and how interconnections would be addressed to create comprehensive coherent global governance for a complex world This volume considers these questions It explores the summits performance the division of labour during their coexistence their comparative strengths and limitations and how the future partnership could be improved to benefit the global community The authors explain the recent evolution and performance of the G8 and G20 summits and their evolving empirical relationship They consider the G8 G20 relationship with other actors engaged in global governance notably the major multilateral organizations and civil society They assess G7 8 and G20 effectiveness and accountability And they identify based on this empirical and analytical foundation how the relationship can be improved for today s tightly wired world

Israeli Development Aid to Sub-Saharan Africa Karolina Zielińska, 2021-03-01 This book deals with Israeli development aid to Sub Saharan Africa countries as a part of Israeli foreign policy The analysis is framed by the concept of soft power an assumption that development cooperation increases attractiveness of the donor and contributes to constructive bilateral and multilateral relations Israel is a particular case of a donor as it concentrates on technical aid and its aid is motivated by a particular set of ideological and pragmatic motives Covering the period since the 1950s till today the book analyses particular Israeli resources relevant for African development and the system and contents of Israeli development aid with a particular focus on a new phenomenon of the engagement of businesses and NGOs Zielińska explores the geopolitical context of Israeli aid for Sub Saharan countries and the recipients perception of Israeli aid asking if and how these attitudes influence the recipients
