The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation

Philip McCann, Frank van Oort, John Goddard, 2016-11-25 Smart specialisation is the new policy approach to the development of regional innovation systems across Europe and it involves fostering innovative and entrepreneurial initiatives which are well tailored to the local context The different technologies skills profiles business activities institutions and sectors which reflect a region s economic strengths and potential are to be fostered and encouraged to diversify in ways which also exploit the region's linkages with broader global value chains. Yet the ideas contained in the smart specialisation agenda have until now been primarily conceptual in nature. The Empirical and Institutional Dimensions of Smart Specialisation draws together some of the leading regional economists and scientists in Europe to analyse how smart specialisation is working in practice. This book investigates different dimensions of the agenda as it is developing across parts of Europe from both quantitative and qualitative perspectives. The quantitative analysis examines the nature of the diversification processes undertaken by regions and the interplay between the chosen local regional development priorities and the wider global value chain impacts of these choices. Meanwhile the qualitative analysis examines the institutional opportunities and challenges facing policy makers and the key elements most likely to provide the underpinnings of a workable set of policy settings. The book is aimed both at academic researchers interested in the interface between economic geography and regional innovation systems as well as at policy makers making public policy decisions related to regional development at the local, city, regional or national levels.

The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research David Abrahamson, Marcia R. Prior-Miller, 2015-06-05. Scholarly engagement with the magazine form has in the last two decades produced a substantial amount of valuable research. Authored by leading academic authorities in the study of magazines, the chapters in The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research not only create an architecture to organize and archive the developing field of magazine research but also suggest new avenues of future investigation. Each of 33 chapters surveys the last 20 years of scholarship in its subject area, identifying the major research themes, theoretical developments and interpretive breakthroughs. Exploration of the digital challenges and opportunities which currently face the magazine world are woven throughout, offering readers a deeper understanding of the magazine form as well as of the sociocultural realities it both mirrors and influences. The book includes six sections: Methodologies and structures presents theories and models for magazine research in an evolving global context; Magazine publishing: the people and the work introduces the roles and practices of those involved in the editorial and business sides of magazine publishing; Magazines as textual communication surveys the field of contemporary magazines across a range of theoretical perspectives; subjects, genre and format questions; Magazines as visual communication explores cover design, photography, illustrations and interactivity; Pedagogical and curricular perspectives offers insights on undergraduate and graduate teaching topics in magazine research; The future of the magazine form speculates on the changing nature of magazine research via its environmental effects, audience and transforming platforms.

Marginalization in Globalizing Delhi: Issues of Land, Livelihoods and Health Sanghmitra S. Acharya, Sucharita Sen, Milap Punia, Sunita Reddy, 2016-10-21. This book analyses how developmental projects in a globalizing Delhi have brought about neglect, exclusion and alienation of certain sections of population while benefiting others. It discusses the physical, economic and social displacement of people in the city in recent times which has deprived them of their lands, livelihoods and access to health care. In Delhi and the National Capital Region, beyond the obvious and apparent image of wide roads, flyovers, the metro rail network high rises and glittering malls globalization has brought about skewed and uneven development A growing middle class and a significant group of an extremely rich section of population steer the ways in which development strategies are planned and implemented Furthermore with government control reducing as is inevitable and consistent with a neoliberal policy framework private players have entered not only the consumer goods sector but also basic goods and services such as agriculture health and education This book explores the effects of such processes with a specific focus on equity on the marginalized sections of population in a globalizing megacity It addresses the themes of land livelihoods and health as overarching drawing upon their interlinkages It traces the changes in the growth of the city in context of these themes and draws inferences from their interconnectedness to examine the current situation of development in Delhi

Everything in Its Place David B. Audretsch, 2015-03-02 Every city region and state wants to do better or at the very least not do worse Places have a strong and vigorous concern with and stake in generating a stronger economic performance This concern spans a broad spectrum of constituents and interests including business labor non profit organizations government and private residents However such decision makers mandated with the strategic management of their place receive little guidance or insight from scholars in terms of a systematic framework for evaluating how to generate and sustain a competitive advantage for their place While an entire academic field exists devoted to analyzing how firms and organizations can create and sustain a competitive advantage and ultimately a strong economic performance the field of strategic management in business schools no such analogous field exists which is devoted to guiding and informing decision makers mandated and concerned with the strategic management of their place Everything in Its Place seeks to fill this intellectual void explaining the underlying economic and social factors and the broad spectrum of policies and instruments that can actually influence and enhance economic performance in places Several academic fields have generated a number of important theories empirical findings and case studies that shed considerable light on identifying and unraveling the underlying forces about what shapes this economic performance Combined in this book with the actual experiences and instincts garnered from practitioners and policy makers these insights are integrated together into a coherent inclusive framework to guide and inform thought leaders and scholars in the strategic management of places China's Backyard Jason Morris-Jung, 2018-05-24 In this multi disciplinary and multi sited volume the authors challenge reductionist and oversimplifying approaches to understanding China s engagement with Southeast Asia Productively viewing these interactions through a resource lense the editor has transcended disciplinary and area studies divides in order to assemble a dynamic and diverse group of scholars with extensive experience across Southeast Asia and in China all while bringing together perspectives from resource economics policy analysis international relations human geography political ecology history sociology and anthropology The result is an important collection that not only offers empirically detailed studies of Chinese energy and resource investments in Southeast Asia but which attends to the complex and often ambivalent ways in which such investments have become both a source of anxiety and aspiration for different stakeholders in the region

Cities and the Super-Rich Ray Forrester, Sin Yee Koh, Bart Wissink, 2017-02-28 With the rise of wealth inequalities our cities are changing dramatically This collection critically engages with and advances existing debates on the super rich and their roles in these transformations An interdisciplinary range of contributions from international experts including sociologists geographers historians discourse analysts and urban studies specialists reveal crucial aspects of the real estate investment practices of the super rich their social spaces in the city as well as the distinct influence of the super rich on the transformation of four key cities London Tokyo Singapore and Hong Kong By drawing together diverse disciplines perspectives and experiences across different geographical contexts this book offers a fresh comparative and nuanced take on the super rich and the 1% city as well as a solid empirically and theoretically grounded basis to think about future research questions and policy implications

Strong to Save: Maritime Mission in Hong Kong from Whampoa Reach to the Mariners' Club Stephen Davies, 2017-07-19 Tracing its origins back to 1822 in Whampoa the Mariners Club in Hong Kong was established to meet a specific need for an Anglo Chinese society defined by that most dubious of activities seafaring Its creation was anything but straightforward and in this can be seen the mutable and often tortuous relations between the various religious bodies the local population the transient sailors the emerging captains of industry and the growing regulatory reach of the colonial government The club evolved through many embodiments and witnessed the growth of Hong Kong from a collection of mat sheds on the foreshore through colony to its current status Throughout its turbulent past it has been occasionally marginalized but has always served as an important base for the key actors in the main commercial activity in Hong Kong seafarers This is a history of one of the most enduring institutions of Hong Kong and the first of its kind Using the Club's own records as well as a wide range of sources both from within Hong Kong and from the seafaring world at large this is a comprehensive account of the life of the Missions the tenancy of the different chaplains managers and stewards the changes in seafaring practices and shipping and the transformation of Hong Kong itself

The Complacent Class Tyler Cowen, 2017-02-28 A Wall Street Journal and Washington Post Bestseller Tyler Cowen's blog Marginal Revolution is the first thing I read every morning And his brilliant new book The Complacent Class has been on my nightstand after I devoured it in one sitting I am at round the clock Cowen saturation right now Malcolm Gladwell Since Alexis de Tocqueville restlessness has been accepted as a signature American trait Our willingness to move take risks and adapt to change have produced a dynamic economy and a tradition of innovation from Ben Franklin to Steve Jobs The problem according to legendary blogger economist and best selling author Tyler Cowen is that Americans today have broken from this tradition we re working harder than ever to avoid change We re moving residences less marrying people more like ourselves and choosing our music and our mates based on algorithms that wall us off from anything that might be too new or too different Match com matches us in love Spotify and Pandora match us in music Facebook matches us to just about everything else Of course this matching culture brings tremendous positives music we like partners who make us happy neighbors who want the same things We re more comfortable But according to Cowen there are significant collateral downsides attending this comfort among them heightened inequality and segregation and decreased incentives to innovate and create The Complacent Class argues that this cannot go on forever We are postponing change due to our near sightedness and extreme desire for comfort but ultimately this will make change when it comes harder The forces unleashed by the Great Stagnation will eventually lead to a major fiscal and budgetary crisis impossibly expensive rentals for our most attractive cities worsening of residential segregation and a decline in our work ethic The only way to avoid this difficult future is for Americans to force themselves out of their comfortable slumber to embrace their restless tradition again

Retail Location Planning in an Era of Multi-Channel Growth Mark Birkin, Graham Clarke, Martin Clarke, 2017-03-27 The way in which products and services are delivered to consumers through branches and retail outlets or more generally through a network of distribution channels remains fundamentally important for maintaining a competitive advantage for a very wide range of businesses This is true within domestic markets but especially so for increasingly global corporations as shareholder pressure for continued growth drives businesses into ever more widespread geographical markets Arguing that more complex markets demand more sophisticated spatial analysis this book discusses the application of location planning techniques to generate competitive advantage in a variety of business sectors in a changing retail environment The series of techniques are analysed from relatively straightforward branch scorecards to sophisticated applications of geographical information systems GIS spatial modelling and mathematical optimisation Also explored are the changing dynamics of the impact of more restrictive planning environments in many countries on how retailers find new locations for growth and respond to changing consumer needs and wants The book is essential reading for students and scholars alike working in geography economics business management planning finance and industry studies
