Geography Grade 11 November 2013 Paper 1

Marilynne Boyle-Baise, Jack Zevin

Geography Grade 11 November 2013 Paper 1:

Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility Un-Habitat, 2013-10-30 Urban transport systems worldwide are faced by a multitude of challenges. Among the most visible of these are the traffic gridlocks experienced on city roads and highways all over the world. The prescribed solution to transport problems in most cities has thus been to build more infrastructures for cars with a limited number of cities improving public transport systems in a sustainable manner. However, a number of challenges faced by urban transport systems such as greenhouse gas emissions, noise, and air pollution, and road traffic accidents do not necessarily get solved by the construction of new infrastructure. Planning and Design for Sustainable Urban Mobility argues that the development of sustainable urban transport systems requires a conceptual leap. The purpose of transportation and mobility is to gain access to destinations, activities, services, and goods. Thus, access is the ultimate objective of transportation. As a result, urban planning and design should focus on how to bring people and places together by creating cities that focus on accessibility rather than simply increasing the length of urban transport infrastructure or increasing the movement of people or goods. Urban form and the functionality of the city are therefore a major focus of this report, which highlights the importance of integrated land use and transport planning. This new report of the United Nations Human Settlements Programme (UN Habitat), the world's leading authority on urban issues, provides some thought-provoking insights and policy recommendations on how to plan and design sustainable urban mobility systems. The Global Report on Human Settlements is the most authoritative and up-to-date global assessment of human settlements conditions and trends. Preceding issues of the report have addressed such topics as Cities in a Globalizing World, The Challenge of Slums, Financing Urban Shelter, Enhancing Urban Safety and Security, Planning Sustainable Cities, and Cities and Climate Change. The Rise and Fall of Civic Education Michael Learn, 2024-09-16 Social studies is a field in crisis. The crisis stems from failure to establish the very foundation of social studies: purpose in public education. Civic education, social studies advocates have never put forth a coherent method for teaching civic education because policymakers and the public have been unable to agree upon a general definition of civic education. This issue has disrupted the field since the early days. As educators sought to include civic education within public schools as a dedicated field, social studies evolved into a blending of history, social sciences, and civic education. Social studies evolution never resolved the differences between the three, with each discipline striving to control the narrative. Instead of creating a unified field, the disciplines devalued social studies and thus any discipline associated with it. The Rise and Fall of Civic Education: The Battle for Social Studies in a Shifting Historical Landscape investigates the changing definitions and purposes ascribed to social studies in the United States through time. This result is viewed through the rising tensions from culture wars as America's divisive politics fight to control the narrative of the disciplines within social studies. Pennsylvania Government and Politics Thomas J. Baldino, Paula A. Duda Holoviak, 2024-03-12 This book provides a comprehensive examination of the Keystone State's formal and informal political
