Geography Final Memorandum 2014

Toyin Falola, Bisola Falola

Geography Final Memorandum 2014:

Assembling Bus Rapid Transit in the Global South Malve Jacobsen, 2020-12-13 This book explores the mobile ethnography of Dar es Salaam where consultants and politicians have planned and implemented a bus rapid transit BRT system for two decades It analyses the dual processes of assembling BRT in the Tanzanian metropolis and establishing BRT as a policy model of and for the Global South The book elucidates how policy models are constructed and circulated around the globe and depicts the processes by which they are translated between and materialise within specific contexts It presents the case of BRT to demonstrate how technocrats shape these processes through persuasive work aimed at disseminating and stabilising this transport model and how local actors influence its adaptation in Dar es Salaam The book adopts a double mobility approach to show how this ethnography follows travelling consultants circulating policies and moving buses to explore the fluidity of the BRT model Linking key debates in policy mobility studies and Science and Technology Studies enriched with postcolonial perspectives and geographies of transport and infrastructure it offers new insights into the technopolitics of planning and implementing infrastructure systems This book will appeal to academics and students of human geography transport studies science and technology studies and African and development studies interested in the technopolitics of transport planning

The Urban Political Theresa Enright, Ugo Rossi, 2017-11-01 This book examines the political and economic trajectories of cities following the 2008 financial crisis The authors claim that in this era which they dub late neoliberalism urban spaces institutions subjectivities and organizational forms are undergoing processes of radical transformation and recomposition The volume deftly argues that the urban political horizon of late neoliberalism is ambivalent marked by many progressive mobilizations for equality and justice but also by regressive forces of austerity exploitation and domination

Taken For A Ride Matteo Rizzo, 2017-05-19 How does public transport work in an African city under neoliberalism Who owns what in it Who has the power to influence its shape and changes in it over time What does it mean to be a precarious and informal worker in the private minibuses that provide public transport in Dar es Salaam These are the main questions that inform this in depth case study of Dar es Salaam's public transport system over more than forty years The growth of cities and informal economies are two central manifestations of globalization in the developing world Taken for a Ride addresses both drawing on long term fieldwork in Dar es Salaam Tanzania and charting its public transport system's journey from public to private provision This new addition to the Critical Frontiers of Theory Research and Practice in International Development Studies series investigates this shift alongside the increasing deregulation of the sector and the resulting chaotic modality of public transport It reviews state attempts to regain control over public transport and documents how informal wage relations prevailed in the sector The changing political attitude of workers towards employers and the state is investigated from an initial incapacity to respond to exploitation to the political organisation and unionisation which won workers concessions on labour rights A longitudinal study of workers throws light on patterns of occupational mobility in the sector and the political and economic interests that shaped the introduction of Bus Rapid Transit in Dar es Salaam and local resistance to it are analysed Taken for a Ride reveals the political economy of public transport exposing the limitations of market fundamentalist and post colonial scholarship on economic informality the urban experience in developing countries and the failure to locate the agency of the urban poor within their economic and political structures It is both a contribution and a call for the contextualised study of actually existing neoliberalism Regional Research Frontiers - Vol. 1 Randall

Jackson,Peter Schaeffer,2017-04-17 This volume focuses on frontiers in regional research and identifies trends and future developments in the areas of innovation regional growth and migration It also addresses topics such as mobility regional forecasting and regional policy and includes expert contributions on disasters resilience and sustainability Building on recent methodological and modelling advances as well as on extensive policy analysis experience top international regional scientists identify and evaluate emerging new conceptual and methodological trends and directions in regional research This book will appeal to a wide readership from regional scientists and economists to geographers quantitatively oriented regional planners and other related disciplines It offers a source of relevant information for academic researchers and policy analysts in government and is also suitable for advanced teaching courses on regional and spatial science economics and political science Towards a Cultural Politics of Climate Change Harriet Bulkeley,Matthew Paterson,Johannes

Stripple,2016-09-15 Towards a Cultural Politics of Climate Change provides a new perspective on how climate change matters in policy making business and everyday life It argues that the work of low carbon transitions takes place through the creation of devices the mobilisation of desires and the articulation of dissent Using case studies from the US Australia and Europe the book examines the creation and contestation of new forms of cultural politics of how a climate changed society is articulated realized and contested Through this approach it opens up questions about how where and by whom climate politics is conducted and the ways in which we might respond differently to this societal challenge This book provides a key reference point for the emerging academic community working on the cultural politics of climate change and a means through which to engage this new area of research with the broader social sciences Russia's Cultural Statecraft

Tuomas Forsberg,Sirke Mäkinen,2021-11-04 This book focusses on Russia s cultural statecraft in dealing with a number of institutional cultural domains such as education museums and monuments high arts and sport It analyses to what extent Russia s cultural activities abroad have been used for foreign policy purposes and perceived as having a political dimension Building on the concept of cultural statecraft the authors present a broad and nuanced view of how Russia sees the role of culture in its external relations how this shapes the image of Russia and the ways in which this cultural statecraft is received by foreign audiences The expert team of contributors consider what choices are made in fostering this agenda how Russian state authorities see the purpose and limits of various cultural instruments to what extent can the authorities shape these instruments what domains have received more attention and become more politicised and what fields have remained more autonomous The methodological research design of the book as a whole is a comparative case study comparing the nature of Russian cultural statecraft across time target countries and diverse cultural domains It will be of interest to scholars and students of Russian foreign policy and external relations and those working on the role of culture in world politics

Spacing Debt Christopher Harker,2020-11-09 In Spacing Debt Christopher Harker demonstrates that financial debt is as much a spatial phenomenon as it is a temporal and social one Harker traces the emergence of debt in Ramallah after 2008 as part of the financialization of the Palestinian economy under Israeli settler colonialism Debt contributes to processes through which Palestinians are kept economically unstable and subordinate Harker draws extensively on residents accounts of living with the explosion of personal debt to highlight the entanglement of consumer credit with other obligatory relations among family friends and institutions He offers a new geographical theorization of debt showing how debt affects urban space including the movement of bodies through the city localized economies and the political violence associated with occupation Bringing cultural and urban imaginaries into conversation with monetized debt Harker shows how debt itself becomes a slow violence embedded into the everyday lives of citizens However debt is also a means through which Palestinians practice endurance creatively adapting to life under occupation

The African Metropolis Toyin Falola,Bisola Falola,2017-08-07 On a planet where urbanization is rapidly expanding nowhere is the growth more pronounced than in cities of the global South and in particular Africa African metropolises are harbingers of the urban challenges that lie ahead as societies grapple with the fractured social economic and political relations forming within these new often mega cities The African Metropolis integrates geographical and historical perspectives to examine how processes of segregation marginalization resilience and resistance are shaping cities across Africa spanning from Nigeria and Ghana to Kenya Ethiopia and South Africa The chapters pay particular attention to the voices and daily realities of those most vulnerable to urban transformations and to questions such as Who governs Who should the city serve Who has a right to the city And how can the built spaces and contentious legacies of colonialism and prior development regimes be inclusively reconstructed In addition to highlighting critical contemporary debates the book furthers our ability to examine the transformations taking place in cities of the global South providing detailed accounts of local complexities while also generating insights that can scale up and across to similar cities around the world This book will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies urban development and human geography

Trading Environments Gordon M. Winder,Andreas Dix,2015-12-07 This volume examines dynamic interactions between the calculative and speculative practices of commerce and the fruitfulness variability materiality liveliness and risks of nature It does so in diverse environments caught up in new trading relationships forged on and through frontiers for agriculture forestry mining and fishing Historical resource frontiers are understood in terms of commercial knowledge systems organized as projects to transform landscapes and environments The book asks how were environments traded and with what environmental and landscape consequences How have environments been engineered standardized and transformed within past trading systems What have been the successes and failures of economic knowledge in dealing with resource production in complex environments It considers cases from northern Europe North and South America Central Africa and New Zealand in the period between 1750 and 1990 and the contributors reflect on the effects of transnational commodity chains competing economic knowledge systems environmental ignorance and learning and resource exploitation In each case they identify tensions blind spots and environmental learning that plagued commercial projects on frontiers
