Tropentag 2015 Eric Tielkes, 2015-09-01 Large quantities of water are appropriated to produce the feed annually consumed in global livestock production. Rising concerns about increasing competition for water resources and projected increase in demand for livestock products make it imperative to look for strategies to sustainably increase livestock production with water being one key natural resource to consider. Using a combination of different datasets a mechanistic livestock model and a dynamic vegetation model we estimate the annual consumptive water use CWU in the global livestock sector associated with crops and fodder cultivated on cropland and grazed biomass from pastures. Regionalization of African Higher Education Jane Knight, Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, 2017-04-17 Growth in the scope, scale and importance of higher education regionalization should not be underestimated or ignored. Africa like Asia, Europe and Latin America is promoting deeper cooperation among higher education bodies and institutions across the continent and focusing more attention on Pan African and sub regional harmonization of policies and programmes. This is the first book which brings together diverse scholars and policy experts to examine key aspects and challenges of African higher education regionalization. Chapters examine the progress and prospects of core regionalization issues and strategies such as academic mobility, quality assurance, recognition of qualifications, research centres and networks, curriculum and competencies and regional academic programmes. Other chapters discuss important themes such as the relationship between regionalization, internationalization and Africanization, historical antecedents and perspectives, an analytical model to understand functional, organizational and political approaches to Africa's higher education regionalization and the influence of the Bologna process on the African Union's Strategy for the Harmonization of Higher Education Programmes. Together these chapters provide a comprehensive overview of efforts by the African Union, sub regional higher education associations such as IUCEA, SARUA and CAMES, Pan African organizations and actors, key research networks and centres of excellence and the involvement or dependence on external actors and funders, especially from Europe. Fundamentally the book asks the question whether higher education regionalization in Africa is more rhetoric than reality. It discusses the progress to date on specific themes, identifies historical, political, sustainability and funding challenges and concludes that while the impacts of regionalization efforts have not been fully realized, there is cautious optimism for the future. Handbook of Research on Advancements in the Processing, Characterization, and Application of Lightweight Materials Kumar, Kaushik, Babu, B. Sridhar, Davim, J. Paulo, 2021-11-19 In the automotive industry the need to reduce vehicle weight has given rise to extensive research efforts to develop aluminum and magnesium alloys for structural car body parts. In aerospace the move toward composite airframe structures urged an increased use of formable titanium alloys. In steel research there are ongoing efforts to design novel damage controlled forming processes for a new generation of efficient and reliable lightweight steel components. All these materials and more constitute today's research mission for lightweight structures. They provide a fertile materials science research field aiming to achieve a better understanding of the interplay between industrial processing microstructure development and the resulting material properties The Handbook of Research on Advancements in the Processing Characterization and Application of Lightweight Materials provides the recent advancements in the lightweight materials processing manufacturing and characterization This book identifies the need for modern tools and techniques for designing lightweight materials and addresses multidisciplinary approaches for applying their use Covering topics such as numerical optimization fatigue characterization and process evaluation this text is an essential resource for materials engineers manufacturers practitioners engineers academicians chief research officers researchers students and vice presidents of research in government industry and academia Sustainable Production and Consumption Systems Charbel Jose Chiappetta Jabbour, Syed Abdul Rehman Khan, 2021-09-26 This book opens up a critical dimension to the field of industrial ecology The book discusses the post COVID 19 trends in the field of industrial ecology and evolving practices adopted by firms for betterment of environment and society The authors identify valuable lessons to be learned and present conceptual frameworks to guide future industrial ecology applications Transforming industrial systems into closed loop industrial ecosystems dramatically reduces the negative impact of industrial activities on the environment Therefore this book is important not only for operation management scholars but also those who are interested in ensuring an environmentally sustainable future Polymer-Silica Based Composites in Sustainable Construction Harrison Shagwira, Fredrick Madaraka Mwema, Thomas Ochuku Mbuya, 2021-12-26 This book presents the application of Polymer Silica Based Composites in the Construction Industry providing the fundamental framework and knowledge needed for the sustainable and efficient use of these composites as building and structural materials It also includes characterization of prepared materials to ascertain mechanical chemical and physical properties and analyses results obtained using similar methods Topics such as life cycle analysis of plastics application of plastics in construction and elimination of plastic wastes are also discussed The book also provides information on the outlook and competitiveness of emerging composites materials Covers theory preparation and characterizations of polymer silica based composites for green construction Discusses technology reliability manufacturing cost and environmental impact Reviews the classification application and processing of polymer silica composites Gives a deeper analysis on the various tests carried out on polymer silica composite Highlights role of such composites in the Industry 4.0 and emerging technologies This book is aimed at graduate students and researchers in civil engineering built environment construction materials and materials science Global report on the state of dietary data Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Intake - Center for dietary assessment, 2022-03-09 Diet and nutrition are critical to health well being and longevity The economic and health burdens associated with poor quality diets are a worldwide concern but for low and middle income countries LMICs the long term impact of these burdens has the potential to be especially devastating Many of these LMICs are currently grappling with the deepening multiple burdens of malnutrition with undernutrition nutrient inadequacies and overweight and obesity often presenting simultaneously in communities households and even in single individuals Time relevant data is a necessary and critical component of any process or initiative that aims to ensure healthy diets Robust data on what people eat in a country enables an understanding of current food consumption practices and provides an evidence based foundation for the design and implementation of targeted and well informed actions policies and messaging to address the key issues related to healthy eating The purpose of this report is to take stock and celebrate the collection and use of dietary data in LMICs and generate further momentum for investment in government led dietary surveys in LMICs Section 1 provides a global overview of dietary surveys carried out in LMICs from 1980 through 2019 analysing key characteristics and trends over time Section 2 celebrates the increased investment in dietary surveys in LMICs by highlighting country stories related to dietary survey initiation implementation and data use Section 3 is aimed at generating further momentum for investment in government led dietary surveys in LMICs by illustrating through data visualizations the type of information dietary data can provide for policy makers

Insects as food and feed: From production to consumption Arnold Van Huis, Jeffrey Tomberlin, 2017-09-15 Alternative protein sources are urgently required as the available land area is not sufficient to satisfy the growing demand for meat Insects have a high potential of becoming a new sector in the food and feed industry mainly because of the many environmental benefits when compared to meat production This will be outlined in the book as well as the whole process from rearing to marketing The rearing involves large scale and small scale production facility design the management of diseases and how to assure that the insects will be of high quality genetics The nutrient content of insects will be discussed and how this is influenced by life stage diet the environment and processing Technological processing requires decontamination preservation and ensuring microbial safety The prevention of health risks e g allergies will be discussed as well as labelling certification and legislative frameworks Additional issues are insect welfare the creation of an enabling environment how to deal with consumers gastronomy and marketing strategies Examples of production systems will be given both from the tropics palm weevils grasshoppers crickets and from temperate zones black soldier flies and house flies as feed and mealworms and crickets as food Detailed photographs are shown at the beginning of each section and chapter
