Logical Argument in the Research Paper Russ Ward, 1997

Logical Argument in the Research Paper operate on the premise that collegiate level writing when cast in its most significant and sophisticated form is argumentative. Students are shown how writers examine a potential topic, establish a stance upon that topic, defend the stance, avoid reasoning and ethical errors and in general say something meaningful about the topic. It also includes instruction about finding sources, gathering information from them and correctly documenting them. However, the emphasis remains on how effective writers evaluate sources, think about the information they discover, prepare a fair and informed argument, rethink and revise the argument and finally present an argument in its completed form. Logical Argument in the Research Paper will help students learn some of the reasoning processes that all writers use when composing the academic argument.

Recovering Argument Randall Lake, 2018-10-29 This volume presents the best scholarship from the 19th National Communication Association American Forensic Association Conference on Argumentation which took place July 30 August 2 2015 at Cliff Lodge Snowbird Resort in Alta Utah. The Alta Conference first held in 1979 is the oldest conference in argumentation studies in the world and biennially brings together a lively group of scholars representing a variety of countries with diverse perspectives on the theory and practice of argument. The essays in Recovering Argument invite reflection upon and reconsideration of argumentation's legacy, present status and potential roles in social, cultural and political life. Readers will encounter essays that treat the relationship between argumentation and memory, historical approaches to argumentation, the vitality of public and interpersonal argument, argument's role in leadership, discursive and presentational forms of argument and the challenges of difference. Readers also will find these topics addressed from a variety of historical, social, scientific and critical interpretive perspectives.

Computational Models of Argument S. Modgil, K. Budzynska, J. Lawrence, 2018-09-06 In its classical form, the study of argumentation focuses on human-oriented uses of argument such as whether an argument is legitimate or flawed, engagement in debate or the rhetorical aspects of argumentation. In recent decades, however, the study of logic and computational models of argumentation has emerged as a growing sub-area of AI. This book presents the Seventh International Conference on Computational Models of Argument (COMMA 18) held in Warsaw, Poland from 12 to 14 September 2018. Since its inception in 2006, the conference and its related activities have developed alongside the steady growth of interest in computational argumentation worldwide, and the selection of 25 full papers and 17 short papers out of a total of 70 submissions and 15 demonstration abstracts included here reflect the broad multidisciplinary nature of argumentation and the increasing body of work which establishes the relevance of computational models to various disciplines and real-world applications. Subjects covered include algorithm development, innovative applications, argument mining, argumentation-based models of dialogue, abstract argument frameworks and structured argumentation. Representing an overview of current developments in the field, this book will appeal to all those with an interest in computational models of argument.

The Structure of Argument Annette T. Rottenberg, Donna Haisty Winchell, 2011-08-03 The Structure of Argument covers critical thinking, reading, writing and research It is concise but thorough and presents everything students need in an affordable compact format The Structure of Argument includes questions exercises and writing assignments and a full semester s worth of readings Now presenting Aristotelian and Rogerian as well as Toulmin argument it includes many fresh readings and additional support for academic writing to help students stake their claim Its emphasis on Toulmin argument makes Structure highly teachable since the approach fits with the goals of the composition course An electronic edition is available at half the price of the print book

Advances in Corpus-based Research on Academic Writing Ute Römer,Viviana Cortes,Eric Friginal,2020-02-15 This volume showcases some of the latest research on academic writing by leading and up and coming corpus linguists The studies included in the volume are based on a wide range of corpora spanning first and second language academic writing at different levels of writing expertise containing texts from a variety of academic disciplines and sub disciplines and of different academic registers Particularly novel aspects of the collection are the inclusion of research that combines rhetorical moves with multi dimensional analysis studies that cover both fixed and variable phraseological items lexical bundles phrase frames constructions and work that is based on corpora of English as an academic lingua franca Going beyond merely summarizing their findings the authors also discuss what their research means for academic writing practice and pedagogical settings The volume will be of interest to researchers students and teachers who would like to expand their knowledge of how academic writing functions and what it looks like in a variety of contexts

Argumentative Style Frans H. van Eemeren,Bart Garssen,Sara Greco,Ton van Haften,Nanon Labrie,Fernando Leal,Peng Wu,2022-07-15 Argumentative Style discusses the various ways in which the defence of a standpoint is given shape in argumentative discourse In this innovative study the new notion argumentative style introduced for this purpose is situated in the theoretical framework of the pragma dialectical approach to argumentation This means that the choices involved in utilising a particular argumentative style do not only concern the presentational dimension but also the topical selection and the audience adaptation of the strategic manoeuvring taking place in the discourse In identifying the functional variety of the argumentative styles utilised in the political the diplomatic the legal the facilitatory the academic and the medical domain the point of departure is that these argumentative styles manifest themselves in the discourse in the argumentative moves that are made the dialectical routes that are chosen and the strategic considerations that are brought to bear

 Global Health shows the construction of health through what is neglected and how the label of neglect is used to make the case that a shift in attitudes towards tropical diseases is based on changing policy practices of health and disease Tropical diseases have moved from being of high importance for European empires to being neglected and unknown and then returning to the spotlight once again During this process the understanding framing and overall character of the disease grouping has changed through a rediscovery of a health issue once rendered neglectable The book depicts this change in relevance of tropical diseases from colonial history to the present day diseases across political cultural and socio economic contexts It shows the transformation of tropical diseases as a grouping that uncovers the changing strategies tactics and unintended consequences of advocacy campaigning by scientists NGOs and policymakers to drive disease issues up the policy agenda Drawing on the emergent field of ignorance studies the book explores ideas about the uses and deployment of both strategic and unintentional not knowing It is aimed at academics and students in science and technology studies the
