Mrap Call Manual:

Securing the MRAP James Hasik, 2021-08-16 Dwight D Eisenhower once quipped You will not find it difficult to prove that battles campaigns and even wars have been won or lost primarily because of logistics Military acquisition and procurement that is how a nation manages investments technologies programs and support is critical to wartime success or failure When unexpected battlefield problems arise how do the government the military and industry work together to ensure effective solutions During the American counterinsurgent campaign in Iraq the improvised explosive device emerged as a disruptive and devastating threat As Humvees and their occupants were ripped apart by IEDs it was clear that new solutions had to be found These solutions already existed but had not been procured highlighting the need for more effective marketing to the military by industry The ultimate successful response the mine resistant ambush protected vehicle or MRAP required years of entrepreneurial marketing by the defense industry In Securing the MRAP Lessons Learned in Marketing and Military Procurement James Hasik explores how these vehicles which the American military mostly rejected despite the great need for them eventually came to be adopted as the Pentagon's top procurement priority Hasik traces the story of the MRAP from the early 1970s to the future of mine resistant vehicles on the battlefields of tomorrow An important contribution to the seemingly disparate fields of marketing and defense policy Securing the MRAP is an eye opening revelation to defense industrialists military officers and government officials who want to understand how to avoid another IED Humvee debacle
