Geography Exam Paper 2014 June:

, Geographers Hayden Lorimer, Charles W. J. Withers, 2016-09-22 Geographers Biobibliographical Studies Volume 35 includes seven essays discussing the contribution made to geography by eleven geographers. The subjects include three British figures: Francis Rennell Rodd 1895-1978, expert on the Sahara; David Harris 1930-2013, a geographer with archaeological interests; and William Gordon East, historical geographer 1902-1998, a Spanish urban scholar. Enric Martin 1928-2012, Mauricio de Almeida Abreu 1948-2011, a Brazilian urban and historical geographer, and two essays on French geographers: one on Jacques Levainville 1869-1932, the other an innovative prosopographical essay on five French authors involved in the monumental Vidalian Geographie Universelle of the early 20th century. In these studies, geography's international dimensions are illuminated and the subject's vibrant history shown to be the result of committed endeavours in the field, in the classroom, and in print. Yojana, 2014 Children, Young People and Critical Geopolitics Matthew C. Benwell, Peter Hopkins, 2017-05-15. Young people and in particular children have typically been marginalised in geopolitical research, positioned as too young to understand or relate to the adult-dominated world of international relations. Integrating current debates in critical geopolitics and political geography with research in children's geographies, childhood studies, and youth research, this book sets out an agenda for the field of children's and young people's critical geopolitics. It considers diverse practices such as play, activism, media consumption, and diplomacy to show how children's and young people's lives relate to wider regional and global geopolitical processes. Engaging with contemporary concepts in human geography, including ludic geopolitics, affect, emotional geographies, intergenerationality, creative diplomacy, popular geopolitics, and citizenship, the authors draw on geopolitical research with children and young people from Europe, Asia, Australasia, Africa, and the Americas. The chapters highlight the ways in which young people can be enrolled, ignored, dismissed, empowered, and represented by the state for geopolitical ends. Notwithstanding this state power, the research presented also shows how young people have agency and make decisions about their lives, which are influenced by wider geopolitical processes. The focus on the lives of children and young people problematises and extends what it is we think of when considering the geopolitical, which enriches as well as advances critical geopolitical enquiry and deserves to be taken seriously by political geographies more broadly. Planning for an innovation district Sara Lawrence, Michael Hogan, Elizabeth Grace Brown, 2019-02-13. Innovation districts are physical spaces that serve to strengthen the foundations and institutions of an innovation ecosystem. The design, implementation, and management of formalized innovation districts is a new practice area. Research draws upon the experience of concentrated areas of innovation that occurred organically, such as Boston's Route 128, as well as intentional projects to bring together innovators in large science and technology parks, such as North Carolina's Research Triangle Park. Existing research focuses on how to define and design innovation districts and evaluate their impact, as well as general policy considerations. In this paper, we review the definitions and benefits of an innovation district.

reviewing the existing empirical research on their impacts We then propose a series of questions to guide practitioners in addressing the economic physical social and governance elements of an innovation district Finally we outline some of the challenges in creating an innovation district and ways to measure progress to allow practitioners to get ahead of potential issues in the future This paper is intended to help policymakers and practitioners working in innovation and economic development translate the concepts of innovation ecosystems into actionable next steps for planning innovation districts in their communities
