Energy Dynamics Bruce D. Hunn, 1996 Fundamentals of Building Energy Dynamics assesses how and why buildings use energy and how energy use and peak demand can be reduced It provides a basis for integrating energy efficiency and solar approaches in ways that will allow building owners and designers to balance the need to minimize initial costs operating costs and life cycle costs with need to maintain reliable building operations and enhance environmental quality both inside and outside the building Chapters trace the development of building energy systems and analyze the demand side of solar applications as a means for determining what portion of a building s energy requirements can potentially be met by solar energy Following the introduction the book provides an overview of energy use patterns in the aggregate U S building population Chapter 3 surveys work on the energy flows in an individual building and shows how these flows interact to influence overall energy use Chapter 4 presents the analytical methods techniques and tools developed to calculate and analyze energy use in buildings while chapter 5 provides an extensive survey of the energy conservation and management strategies developed in the post energy crisis period The approach taken is a commonsensical one starting with the proposition that the purpose of buildings is to house human activities and that conservation measures that negatively affect such activities are based on false economies The goal is to determine rational strategies for the design of new buildings and the retrofit of existing buildings to bring them up to modern standards of energy use The energy flows examined are both large scale heating systems and small scale choices among appliances Solar Heat Technologies Fundamentals and Applications Volume 4 Power ,1944 Plant and Product Directory ,1963 ASHRAE Handbook ,1989 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1977 Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database Engineering Record, Building Record and Sanitary Engineer Edward J.
