Racial Policies and Practices of Real Estate Brokers Rose Helper, Residential Segregation and Neighborhood Change Keith Stribley, 2017-09-05 This book is an invaluable reference First published in 1965 it is at once a snapshot of a moment in history and a timeless conceptualization of the issues inherent in societal segregation Residential segregation historically occupies a key position in patterns of race relations in the urban United States It not only inhibits the development of informal neighborly relations between white people and African Americans but ensures the segregation of a variety of public and private facilities The clientele of schools hospitals libraries parks and stores is determined in large part by the racial composition of the neighborhood in which they are located Problems created by residential segregation are the focus of this of this work African Americans in cities resemble whites in cities Both racial groups are highly urbanized and most of the immigrants of either race to a city are former residents of another city Within cities racial groups display similar patterns of residential behavior with those of higher incomes seeking out newer and better housing Both races respond similarly to national social and economic factors which set the context within which local changes occur Karl E and Alma F Taeuber s main approach to the analysis of residential segregation and processes of neighborhood change is comparative and statistical By quantitative comparison of the situation in many different cities they attempt to assess those patterns and processes which are common to all communities and those which vary Residential segregation is shown to be a prominent and enduring feature of American urban society By bringing empirical data to bear on an important and timely social problem this book will aid in the search for reasonable solutions All types of cities southern and northern large and small are beset with the difficulties that residential segregation imposes on harmonious race relations and on the solution of pressing city prob
