Information Sharing: Federal Agencies are Sharing Border and Terrorism Information with Local and Tribal Law Enforcement Agencies, but Additional Efforts are Needed , Crime and Terrorism Risk Leslie W. Kennedy, Edmund F. McGarrell, 2012-02-15 Crime and Terrorism Risk is a collection of original essays and articles that presents a broad overview of the issues related to the assessment and management of risk in the new security age These original articles show how researchers experts and the public are beginning to think about crime and terrorism issues in terms of a new risk paradigm that emphasizes establishing a balance between threat and resources in developing prevention and response strategies

Homeland Insecurity Ann Gordon, Kai Hamilton Gentry, 2021-03-09 In this book Ann Gordon and Kai Hamilton Gentry expertly illuminate how the public has a role to play in ensuring its own security Recent terror attacks and mass shootings in the United States have added urgency to the need for research on terrorism the public's understanding of the precursors of terrorism and public preparedness for mass shootings and acts of terror Unfortunately most Americans do not understand what constitutes suspicious behavior or how to report it Even more alarmingly the public does not know what to do in the event of terrorist attack or mass casualty incident Drawing on five years of the Chapman Survey of American Fears CSAF a nationally representative survey and real world events Homeland InSecurity offers actionable solutions on how to educate the public to overcome fear and play an active role securing schools public venues and the homeland itself The book addresses proposals by survivors and victims families to reduce violence through campaigns to deny shooters the notoriety they seek and reduce access to guns It also explores the rise of activism among survivors of school shootings and their quest to educate the public and end school shootings Homeland InSecurity will be essential for scholars students and policy makers
