Business Phone Book USA ,2000 Government Phone Book USA 2005 Omnigraphics,Omnigraphics, Incorporated,2004-11 The Great Iowa Touring Book Mike Whye,2004 For many people Iowa is a series of rest stops gas stops and places to grab some food as they travel the interstate highways that cross the state However if one leaves the major routes and takes to the back roads there s a lot more to this state than what s seen near the interstate exits This guidebook has 27 auto tours encompassing urban and rural areas back roads and byways well known and little known places the famous and the infamous rivers big and small great lakes and rare ponds prairie and forests plains and hills old settlements and brand new communities Inside Magazine ,2004 Understanding the Decision-making Process for Drivers Faced with Lane Restriction Or Closures on Wisconsin Highways Laura Higgins,2013 The Wisconsin Department of Transportation WisDOT owns and operates a state highway network of 12 000 miles which carries approximately 80 percent of vehicle miles traveled in the state Construction maintenance weather and other events often lead to lane closures or restrictions causing inconvenience to road users WisDOT developed numerous strategies for identifying alternate routes that drivers can use when highway travel times are affected by planned or unplanned events Despite these efforts WisDOT has observed that many alternate routes are underused even when those routes would save travelers significant travel time The objective of this project was to examine the decision making processes of Wisconsin drivers regarding route selection including their decisions to use or not use an alternate route instead of the highway network Factors that were examined included how and when drivers make initial decisions about a preferred route for both familiar and unfamiliar trips the factors that influence their decisions to divert or not divert from their usual or current route to an alternate route and the information sources they would most likely consult for travel and route information Level I & II Aggregate Instruction Text ,2008 Annual Report Iowa. Department of Transportation. Bureau of Research and Technology,2008 The Librarians Phone Book ,1981 Government Phone Book USA 2007 Omnigraphics,Omnigraphics, Incorporated,2006-12 Government Phone Book USA. Carroll Publishing,Carroll Publishing Staff,1998-10 Maintenance Training Iowa. Department of Transportation,1987 The Librarians Phone Book, 1980 ,1979 alphabetical list of librarians heads of library networks deans chairmen of library schools in the United States and Canada Pref Office Procedures Handbook Iowa. Department of Transportation,1984 The Anthrax Letters Leonard A. Cole,2009-04-01 At 2 00am on October 2 2001 Robert Stevens entered a hospital emergency room Feverish nauseated and barely conscious no one knew what was making him sick Three days later he was dead Stevens was the first fatal victim of bioterrorism in America Bioterrorism expert Leonard Cole has written the definitive account of the Anthrax attacks Cole is the only person outside law enforcement to have interviewed every one of the surviving inhalation anthrax victims along with the relatives friends and associates of those who died as well as the public health officials scientists researchers hospital workers and treating physicians Fast paced and riveting this minute by minute chronicle of the anthrax attacks recounts more than a history of recent current events it uncovers the untold and perhaps even more important story of how scientists doctors and researchers perform life saving work under intense pressure and public scrutiny Updated with new information about Ivins and a series of upcoming Congressional hearings into the FBI s conduct in this case The Anthrax Letters amply demonstrates how vulnerable America was in 2001 and whether we are better prepared now for a bioterror attack

Transportation Research Board,2002 This report presents results of research conducted under Transit Cooperative Research Program TCRP Project B 21 Effective Approaches to Meeting Rural Intercity Bus Transportation Needs The project identified strategies for initiating preserving and enhancing effective rural intercity bus transportation To identify recent projects and to identify barriers or issues affecting implementation the research effort included surveys of state rural transit program managers state rail program managers and intercity bus carriers The report includes three parts Part I contains a review of recent developments affecting the intercity bus industry an overview of potential funding sources and a review of barriers to implementation of rural intercity projects Part II provides strategies for rural intercity service improvements including methods of identifying intercity carriers and services planning program development operating assistance capital assistance marketing assistance and combining approaches Each strategy is described and implementation examples are presented Part III presents 50 project descriptions based on additional survey interviews with project contacts Improved Employment Data for Transportation Planning ,1998 Transportation planners typically use census data or small sample surveys to help estimate work trips in metropolitan areas Census data are cheap to use but are only collected every 10 years and may not provide the answers that a planner is seeking On the other hand small sample survey data are fresh but can be very expensive to collect This project involved using database and geographic information systems GIS technology to relate several administrative data sources that are not usually employed by transportation planners These data sources included data collected by state agencies for unemployment insurance purposes and for drivers licensing Together these data sources could allow better estimates of the following information for a metropolitan area or planning region Locations of employers work sites Locations of employees Travel flows between employees homes and their work locations The required new employment database was created for a large multi county region in central Iowa When evaluated against the estimates of a metropolitan planning organization the new database did allow for a one to four percent improvement in estimates over the traditional approach While this does not sound highly significant the approach using improved employment data to synthesize home based work HBW trip tables was particularly beneficial in improving estimated traffic on high capacity routes These are precisely the routes that transportation planners are most interested in modeling accurately Therefore the concept of using improved employment data for transportation planning was considered valuable and worthy of follow up research
