Living in Style Chris Van Uffelen, 2014 Individual life scripts are most clearly manifested in a person's home. The center of one's life is expected to provide fulfillment and personal happiness while also expressing the resident's unique personality. An opulent dining room shows the desire for prestigious entertainment; a well-assorted library, the love of knowledge; of the occupants; a fitness room stands for their joy of exercise; and an eat-in kitchen for the pleasure of cozy gatherings. Presenting a kind of contemporary cultural history of lifestyles, this volume showcases more than 100 carefully selected residences and interiors. They include large villas and small apartments, romantic chalets and cool lofts, minimalist bungalows and innovative townhouses for singles and couples, small and large families, and other forms of cohabitation. Each one of these living environments from around the world is fascinating and inspiring in its own special way. Not only is that okay, it's how you achieve more than a re-creation of what you've already seen or what somebody else has done. You can do this too! I promise from the introduction: Designing a room with all the vibes comes down to how you layer your décor. The more you can mix the elements of your room—your pillows, objects, patterns, and lighting—the more finished it'll feel, not too new, not too old, but just right. Known for her eclectic approach that stems from her California cool, Amber Lewis trains your eye in Made for Living, offering friendly advice on everything from nailing that perfect shade of paint to mismatching patterns with wild abandon to choosing a stone finish for new countertops.
