5 Common Pitfalls to Avoid When Setting Goals

1 Starting too high

When you're just starting out, it's important to set goals that are achievable. If you set goals that are too high, you may become discouraged and give up.

2 Setting goals that are too vague

Consider this: "I want to be a better person." This is a very vague goal. It's difficult to measure progress and it's hard to know when you've achieved it.

Use the information you have about your client's abilities and interests to set specific, measurable goals.

3 Adding too many goals

Have you ever tried to do too many things at once? It's frustrating, isn't it? The same goes for setting goals. If you have too many goals, you may become overwhelmed and give up.

Instead, set a few goals that are achievable and focus on those. As you progress, you can add more goals as you feel comfortable.

3 Steps to Setting Goals in Aphasia Therapy

1 Get to Know Your Client

Find out about your client's interests, abilities, and preferences. This will help you set goals that are meaningful and motivating.

Collaborate with your client to set goals that are realistic and achievable. This will help them feel more invested in the process.

Even if your client doesn't seem to be making progress, keep going. You may be helping them in ways they don't realize.
