Light, Paper, Process Virginia Heckert, 2015-04-14 From its beginnings photography has been shaped by the desire to understand and explore the essence of the medium Light Paper Process features the work of seven artists Alison Rossiter Marco Breuer James Welling Lisa Oppenheim Chris McCaw John Chiara and Matthew Brandt who investigate the possibilities of analog photography by finding innovative surprising and sometimes controversial ways to push light sensitive photographic papers and chemical processing beyond their limits A panoply of practices emerges in the work of these artists Some customize cameras with special lenses or produce images on paper without a camera or film Others load paper rather than film in the camera or create contact printing with sources of light other than the enlarger while still others use expired photographic papers and extraneous materials such as dust and sweat selected to match the particular subject of the photograph All of the artists share a willingness to embrace accident and chance Trial and error contribute to an understanding of the materials and their potential as do the attitudes of underlying curiosity and inventive interrogation The act of making each image is like a artists this book explores a diverse group of curious experimentalists who have propelled the medium's evolution by visualizing their subject matter as it originates from their mind's eye. Many favor the historical techniques commonly known as alternative photographic processes but all these makers demonstrate that the real alternative is found in their mental approach and not in their use of physical methods. Within this context, photographer and photography historian Robert Hirsch outlines the varied approaches these artists have utilized to question conventional photographic practices to convey internal realities and to examine what constitutes photographic reality. Hirsch explores the half-century evolution of these concepts and methodologies and their popularity among contemporary imagemakers who are merging digital and analog processes to express what was thought to be photographically inexpressible. 1864: Albumen Photographs of Southern History Matthew Brandt, Greg Harris, 2018-03 In 1864 Matthew Brandt recreates George N. Barnard's 19th-century images of a devastated post-Sherman Atlanta. Using source imagery housed at the Library of Congress, he makes new albumen photographs from Barnard's images. Fortifying the foundational ingredients of the 19th-century albumen print—egg whites, silver nitrate, and salt—with peaches, sugar, flour, cinnamon, and butter, Brandt plays with external assumptions about the South at the same time, revealing a complex understanding of the complicated history his project explores.
