1. Look at yourself in the back of that spoon (the side where the bowl is). What do you see?

Get up close.The image of a spoon is an example of a convex mirror.

2. What do you see when you look at yourself the front of a spoon? Get up close.

The back of a spoon is an example of a concave mirror.Classroom Activity

Use your drawing of a concave mirror as well as a piece of a light bulb positioned to the left of a concave light ray's path to find the light bulb's real image and image.

To help, add the following questions only for the student: Can you draw a light ray from the bulb through the focal point and then only the parallel ray is drawing?

3. The image size in terms of the mirror is the magnification of the mirror. Where the light bulb is the left of the focal point, what is always true about the ray that is parallel from the parallel ray?

Remember, the light source is always to the left of the parallel ray.
