Nisei Soldiers Break Their Silence Linda Tamura, 2012-12-15 Nisei Soldiers Break Their Silence is a compelling story of courage community endurance and reparation It shares the experiences of Japanese Americans Nisei who served in the U S Army during World War II fighting on the front lines in Italy and France serving as linguists in the South Pacific and working as cooks and medics The soldiers were from Hood River Oregon where their families were landowners and fruit growers Town leaders including veterans groups attempted to prevent their return after the war and stripped their names from the local war memorial All of the soldiers were American citizens but their parents were Japanese immigrants and had been imprisoned in camps as a consequence of Executive Order 9066 The racist homecoming that the Hood River Japanese American soldiers received was decried across the nation Linda Tamura who grew up in Hood River and whose father was a veteran of the war conducted extensive oral histories with the veterans their families and members of the community She had access to hundreds of recently uncovered letters and documents from private files of a local veterans group that led the campaign against the Japanese American soldiers This book also includes the little known story of local Nisei veterans who spent 40 years appealing their convictions for insubordination Watch the book trailer <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hHMcFdmixLk> The Holocaust in the Soviet Union Yitzhak Arad, 2009-07-01 Arad's examination of the differences between the Holocaust in the Soviet Union compared to other European nations reveals how Nazi ideological attacks on the Soviet Union led to harsher treatment of the Jews in the Soviet Union than in most other occupied territories Making War at Fort Hood Kenneth T. MacLeish, 2015-03-01 An intimate look at war through the lives of soldiers and their families at Fort Hood Making War at Fort Hood offers an illuminating look at war through the daily lives of the people whose job it is to produce it Kenneth MacLeish conducted a year of intensive fieldwork among soldiers and their families at and around the US Army's Fort Hood in central Texas He shows how war's reach extends far beyond the battlefield into military communities where violence is as routine boring and normal as it is shocking and traumatic Fort Hood is one of the largest military installations in the world and many of the 55 000 personnel based there have served multiple tours in Iraq and Afghanistan MacLeish provides intimate portraits of Fort Hood's soldiers and those closest to them drawing on numerous in depth interviews and diverse ethnographic material He explores the exceptional position that soldiers occupy in relation to violence not only trained to fight and kill but placed deliberately in harm's way and offered up to die The death and destruction of war happen to soldiers on purpose MacLeish interweaves gripping narrative with critical theory and anthropological analysis to vividly describe this unique condition of vulnerability Along the way he sheds new light on the dynamics of military family life stereotypes of veterans what it means for civilians to say thank you to soldiers and other questions about the sometimes ordinary sometimes agonizing labor of making war Making War at Fort Hood is the first ethnography to examine the everyday lives of the soldiers families and communities who personally bear the burden of America's most recent wars The Times parliamentary debates, from Jan. 12, 1886-Aug. 25, 1894. House of commons Parliament commons, proc, Vict, 1893 The Army Lawyer, 1992 The Holocaust Jeremy Black, 2024-06-04 In The Holocaust History and Memory New Edition Jeremy Black revisits his brilliant and wrenching account of the brutal mass slaughter of Jews during World War II and the subsequent remembrance and misremembering of this genocide Black challenges the prevailing view that separates the Holocaust from Germany's military objectives with compelling evidence that Germany's war on the Allies was deeply intertwined with Hitler's war on Jews. As Hitler expanded his control over more territories, the extermination of Jews became a significant war aim, particularly in the east. Long before the establishment of extermination camps, the German army and collaborators carried out mass shootings, resulting in the deaths of many and the extermination of entire Jewish communities. Notably, Rommel's attack on Egypt was a crucial step toward the larger goal of annihilating 400,000 Jews living in Palestine. Additionally, Hitler interpreted America's initial focus on war with Germany rather than Japan as evidence of influential Jewish interests in American policy, which further justified and escalated his war against Jewry through the Final Solution. In chilling detail, Black also unveils compelling evidence that many ordinary Germans must have been aware of the genocide happening around them.

The Holocaust: History and Memory, New Edition is an essential, concise, and highly readable history. Now extensively revised and updated, it continues to offer a powerful testimony to those forever silenced by the Holocaust, ensuring that their horrifying fate will never be forgotten.

Beyond Camps and Forced Labour Suzanne Bardgett, Christine Schmidt, Dan Stone, 2020-12-30. This book presents a selection of the newest research on themes amplified by the sixth annual Beyond Camps and Forced Labour conference on the post-Holocaust period, including displaced persons, reception and resettlement, exiles and refugees, trials and justice, reparation and restitution, and memory and testimony. The chapters highlight new transnational approaches and findings based on underused and newly opened archives, including compensation files of the British government on historical actors often on the periphery within English language historiography, including Romanian and Hungarian survivors, and new approaches such as the spatial history of Drancy, as well as geographies that have undergone less scrutiny, for example, Tehran, Chile, Mexico, and Cyprus. This volume represents the vibrant and varied state of research on the aftermath of the Holocaust.
