Textbook of Gynecology Sudha Salhan,2011-08      Are data available for tracking progress on nutrition policies, programs, and outcomes in Nepal? Neupane, Sumanta,Jangid, Manita,Scott, Samuel,Nguyen, Phuong Hong,Kim, Sunny S.,Murira, Zivai,Torlesse, Harriet,Menon, Purnima,2021-07-15 The World Health Organization WHO and other global nutrition and health agencies recommend nutrition actions throughout the life course to address malnutrition in all its forms In this report we examined how Nepal s nutrition policies and programs addressed recommended nutrition actions nutrition outcomes and the determinants of these outcomes We reviewed population based surveys and administrative data systems in order to assess the data availability on nutrition actions and on the indicators of determinants and outcomes Our policy review identified a total of 53 recommended evidence based nutrition actions of which 50 nutrition actions were applicable in Nepal Of these 45 were addressed in the country s nutrition policies and programs and some of the actions were only available in some districts Nutrition actions that were not included in current policies and programs included calcium supplementation and advice on consuming calcium during pregnancy and daily iron and folic acid IFA supplementation during childhood Current policies addressed daily or intermittent IFA supplementation during preconception and food supplementation for malnourished lactating women during the postnatal period however there was no program to implement these actions Nepal s Multi Sector Nutrition Plan MSNP recognized and addressed all key determinants of nutrition it also expressed an intent to address all SDG nutrition targets for maternal infant and young child nutrition Noncommunicable diseases NCDs however were addressed separately by a multisectoral plan for NCDs Our data review found that out of 45 actions that policies and programs addressed population based surveys contained data on only 27 actions and administrative data systems contained data on only 25 actions Population based surveys and administrative data sources contained no data on food supplementation during adolescence weight monitoring and various types of counseling during pregnancy optimal timing delayed of umbilical cord clamping support for breastfeeding and immediate skin to skin contact optimal feeding of low birth weight infants and counseling of mothers of low birth weight infants on kangaroo mother care KMC during delivery and in the postpartum period breastfeeding counseling counseling on appropriate complementary feeding counseling after growth monitoring and inpatient management of severe acute malnutrition SAM during early childhood Population based surveys contained data on most of the indicators of immediate and underlying determinants while administrative data systems did not have data on all indicators of immediate determinants Data on all indicators of nutrition outcomes were available from population based surveys In conclusion Nepal s policy and program landscape for nutrition is robust however the gaps in data availability for tracking progress on nutrition actions are much larger than the gap in policies and programs for addressing recommended actions Future population based surveys and modifications of administrative data systems should aim to fill the identified data gaps for nutrition actions

Index of NLM Serial Titles National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1984 A keyword listing of serial titles currently received by the National Library of Medicine

Abstracts on Hygiene, 1928 Bulletin of Hygiene, 1928 Children's Palliative Care in Africa Justin Amery, 2009 Children's palliative care has developed rapidly as a discipline as health care professionals recognize that the principles of adult palliative care may not always be applicable to children at the end of life

The unique needs of dying children are particularly evident across Africa where the scale of the problem is overwhelming and the figures so enormous that they are barely comprehensible over 400 000 children in Africa died from AIDS in 2003 and out of the 166 000 children a year diagnosed with cancer 85% of these are in the developing world Despite the enormous need provision of children s palliative care in Africa is almost non existent with very few health workers trained and confident to provide care for dying children The challenges of providing palliative care in this setting are different to those in more developed countries contending with the shortage of physical and human resources in addition to the vast scope of the care needed Written by a group with wide experience of caring for dying children in Africa this book provides practical realistic guidance by improving access to and delivery of palliative care in this demanding setting It looks at the themes common to palliative care including communication assessment symptom management psychosocial issues ethical dilemmas end of life care and tips for the professional on compassion and conservation of energy but always retains the focus on the particular needs of the health care professional in Africa While containing some theory the emphasis is on practical action throughout the book Children s Palliative Care in Africa provides health care professionals working in Africa and other resource poor settings with the confidence knowledge and capacity to improve care for the terminally ill child in constrained and demanding environments The British Journal of Tuberculosis ,1918

Sourcebook on the Foundations of Social Protection Delivery Systems Kathy Lindert,Tina George Karippacheril,Inés Rodríguez Caillava,Kenichi Nishikawa Chávez,2020-10-29 The Sourcebook on the Foundations of Social Protection Delivery Systems synthesizes real world experiences and lessons learned of social protection delivery systems from around the globe It takes a broad view of social protection covering various intended populations such as poor or low income families unemployed workers persons with disabilities and individuals facing social risks It discusses many types of interventions that governments provide to individuals families or households including categorical programs poverty targeted programs labor benefits and services disability benefits and services and social services The Sourcebook seeks to address concrete how to questions including How do countries deliver social protection benefits and services How do they do so effectively and efficiently How do they ensure dynamic inclusion especially for the most vulnerable and needy How do they promote better coordination and integration not only among social protection programs but also among programs in other parts of government How can they meet the needs of their intended populations and provide a better client experience The delivery systems framework elaborates on the key elements of that operating environment The framework is anchored in core implementation phases along the delivery chain Key actors including people and institutions interact all along that delivery chain Those interactions are facilitated by communications information systems and technology This framework can apply to the delivery of one or many programs and to the delivery of adaptive social protection The Sourcebook structures itself around eight key principles that can frame the delivery systems mind set 1 There is no single blueprint for delivery systems but there are commonalities and those common elements constitute the core of the delivery systems framework 2 Quality of implementation matters and weaknesses in any of the core elements will negatively affect the entire system reducing the impacts of the program s they support 3 Delivery systems evolve over time in a nonlinear fashion and their starting points matter 4 Efforts should be made to keep it simple and to do simple well from the start 5 The first mile people s direct interface with administrative functions is often the weakest link in the delivery chain improving it may take systemic change but will greatly improve overall efficiencies and mitigate the risk of failures on the frontlines 6 Social protection programs do not operate in a vacuum and thus their delivery systems should not be developed in silos synergies across institutions and information systems are possible and can improve program outcomes 7 Social protection delivery systems can contribute more broadly to government s ability to serve other sectors such as health insurance subsidies scholarships social energy tariffs housing benefits and legal services 8 The dual challenges of inclusion and coordination are pervasive and perennial and encourage the continuous improvement of delivery systems through a dynamic integrated and human centered approach
