Cinematic Interfaces Seung-hoon Jeong, 2013-07-11 In this book Seung hoon Jeong introduces the cinematic interface as a contact surface that mediates between image and subject proposing that this mediation be understood not simply as transparent and efficient but rather as asymmetrical ambivalent immanent and multidirectional Jeong enlists the new media term interface to bring to film theory a synthetic notion of interfaciality as underlying the multifaceted nature of both the image and subjectivity Drawing on a range of films Jeong examines cinematic interfaces seen on screen and the spectator s experience of them including the direct appearance of a camera filmstrip screen the character s bodily contact with such a medium interface the object s surface and the subject s face as quasi interface and the image itself Each of these case studies serves as a platform for remapping and revamping major concepts in film studies such as suture embodiment illusion signification and indexicality Looking to such theories as the ontology of the image and the phenomenology of the body this original theorization of the cinematic interface not only offers a conceptual framework for rethinking and re linking film and media studies but also suggests a general theory of the interface
