The Digital Selective Calling (DSC) system is one of the essential elements of the GMDSS, the automated digital communication system developed by the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) to enhance navigational safety. The DSC system can also be used to quickly and efficiently establish routine communications with other ships and coast stations that are DSC equipped.

The DSC-6/6A both consist of a combined encoder and decoder for generating and receiving digital selective calls. When used in conjunction with a FURUNO MF/HF transmitter/receiver they provide full automatic control of transmit and receive frequency, class of emission, and other parameters as entered from the front panel or contained in the telecommand information in an
