Design Change to Fishery Independent Surveys: When to Adjust and How to Account For It Fabio

Campanella,Ben Scoulding, Nathan Bacheler,Kyle Shertzer,2025-03-07 Fishery independent surveys provide crucial information for monitoring and assessing marine fish stocks Their utility can largely be attributed to sampling procedures that are consistent across space and time such that observed dynamics can reasonably be assumed to reflect those of the population or community being studied However sometimes changes to the survey design become desirable or necessary They may be desirable if the benefits of modification outweigh the benefits of consistency for example with improvements in sampling technology or efficiency revised survey priorities or increased funding that allows for greater spatial coverage or temporal resolution In other cases changes to the survey design may not be desirable but necessary for example when specific supplies or equipment become unobtainable or with reductions in funding ship time or human resources

Technology Aimed at Achieving Sustainable Fishing Alessandro Lucchetti, Valentina Melli, Jure Brčić, 2023-11-20 Over the last fifty years human exploitation of marine resources has become more efficient as the understanding of the habits and behaviour of the various species available in the sea gradually increased Thus technologies have developed naturally over time and fishing gears and practices have become more sophisticated These technical advances in fishing gear have generally led to more efficient economic fishing operations and better access to resources However fishing implies the harvesting of marine organisms directly from their natural environment therefore general awareness of environmental problems due to the exploitation of fishery resources has also increased. In particular, the poor selectivity of some gears is responsible for the capture of juveniles, immature and undersized specimens of many species, with negative consequences on the state of stocks. In addition, bycatch in marine fisheries is a major source of human-caused mortality of marine megafauna, often leading to the capture of vulnerable species. Finally, many bottom-towed gears are responsible for high impacts on bottom communities and habitats, with cascading consequences on the entire marine ecosystem. All these impacts can lead to changes in the structure, function and integrity of ecosystems, including effects on the food webs and multispecies predator-prey relationships.
