can be bewildering This book is an accessible step by step guide to conducting interview based qualitative research projects The authors discuss the hows and whys of qualitative research showing readers the practices as well as the principles behind them The book first describes how to formulate research questions suited to qualitative inquiry It then discusses in detail how to select and invite research participants into a study and how to design and carry out good interviews It next presents several ways to analyze interviews and provides readers with many worked examples of analyses It also discusses how to synthesize findings and how to present them Doing Interview based Qualitative Research equips readers in disciplines such as psychology sociology education counseling nursing and public health with the knowledge and skills necessary to embark on their own projects

Instructed and Instructive Actions Michael Lynch, Oskar Lindwall, 2023-11-30 The contributors to this volume take up the theme of instructed and instructive actions Harold Garfinkel the founder of ethnomethodology initiated the study of instructed actions as a way to elucidate the embodied production of social order in real time Studies of instructions and the actions of following them provide empirical content to the classical theoretical issue of how rules norms and other normative guidelines are conveyed understood and used for producing social actions and structures The studies in this volume address novel technologies of instructed action and non obvious ways in which ordinary actions turn out to be instructive for participants in immediate situations of action and interaction In some cases the studies address specialized practical artistic and recreational activities and in others they address commonplace modes of action and interaction In all cases they focus on how the manifest organization of specific activities is organized with and without explicitly formulated instructions This book will appeal to scholars across the social sciences with interests in ethnomethodological approaches to research by contributing to understandings of how specific actions are instructed and instructive in the circumstances in which they are produced

Literature and Evil Georges Bataille, 1973 Beginning Writers in the Zone of Proximal Development Elizabeth Petrick-Steward, 2012-10-12 How do young children bridge the gap between writing a story with pictures and writing with words How children learn to use written words to tell a story is a topic important to both cognitive development and early literacy instruction Using the theoretical framework developed by Vygotsky the behavior of a group of prekindergarten children as they author two consecutive pieces of writing is analyzed The children tell their stories at first with spoken words and pictures As they discuss their work in progress in public conferences they discover how to build on and combine existing skills to produce a new skill telling stories with written words Current descriptive and theoretical perspectives on beginning writing are presented in this volume with a particular focus on Vygotsky's concept of the zone of proximal development a period of sensitivity in which learning advances The proposed mechanism of change is verbal mediation talk among peers and teachers as they discuss work in progress which moves the children through the zone of proximal development An open whole language approach to literacy instruction makes the classroom in this book an ideal arena in which to observe verbal mediation in operation Children are free to question criticize and argue and in the process they collectively advance their developing ability to use written language The work is unique in that the rich and comprehensive data record is reproduced in its entirety More than 400 illustrations of the children's products two books apiece pictured before and after the children's revisions are included along with transcripts of the conferences about each of the pages permitting direct observation of the effects of verbal mediation This dynamic study documents change during a period of time when specific learning is occurring and provides strong support for the value and power of Vygotsky's theoretical framework

Who Does That! Victoria Herring, 2007-11-29 Who Does That is a novel full of lustful yet life learning experiences that will keep you wanting for more It tells the dramatic story of Victoria White In her earlier years all she wanted to do was get an education and make a better life for herself She gets side tracked when she meets a guy name Dwight and falls in love When things don't work out her life takes an unexpected turn She gets a big dose of reality when she starts looking for love in all the wrong places She gets into a relationship with several guys and ends up getting hurt She starts getting revengeful wanting to hurt everyone that hurts her She seeks her revenge at no cost In the midst all she gets a devastating blow by the death of her father and her unborn child Dealing with the pain alone was unbearable She needed someone to talk to someone that would love her unconditionally In order to do that she had to make some changes in her life But before she could along came Paul Paul was a very caring person He knew what she needed and was willing to give to her That is until her insecurities got the best of her and she started acting like a jealous maniac Her jealousy leads her to losing Paul and her freedom

Self-Constitution Christine M. Korsgaard, 2009-03-27 Christine M Korsgaard presents an account of the foundation of practical reason and moral obligation Moral philosophy aspires to understand the fact that human actions unlike the actions of the other animals can be morally good or bad right or wrong Few moral philosophers however have exploited the idea that actions might be morally good or bad in virtue of being good or bad of their kind good or bad as actions Just as we need to know that it is the function of the heart to pump blood to know that a good heart is one that pumps blood successfully so we need to know what the function of an action is in order to know what counts as a good or bad action Drawing on the work of Plato Aristotle and Kant Korsgaard proposes that the function of an action is to constitute the agency and therefore the identity of the person who does it As rational beings we are aware of and therefore in control of the principles that govern our actions A good action is one that constitutes its agent as the autonomous and efficacious cause of her own movements These properties correspond respectively to Kant's two imperatives of practical reason Conformity to the categorical imperative renders us autonomous and conformity to the hypothetical imperative renders us efficacious And in determining what effects we will have in the world we are at the same time determining our own identities Korsgaard develops a theory of action and of interaction and of the form interaction must take if we are to have the integrity that she argues is essential for agency On the basis of that theory she argues that only morally good action can serve the function of action which is self constitution Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States United States. President,2010
