1) European diplomacy may refer to the various political agreements or alliances made by the European powers with the intention to maintain stable international relations amongst one another. Therefore, the greatest achievement of European diplomacy would be the attainment of solid amicable relations among the European powers, in the hope of preventing or preventing the onset of a war in the region. However, this threatening potential for war was swiftly averted by the Berlin Congress, where Germany acted as a mediator. This feat of European diplomacy was able to find temporary solutions to ease of the intractable problems faced. One such solution was satisfying both Austria-Hungary and Britain through giving Austria-Hungary the right to occupy Bosnia and Herzegovina, as well as giving Britain permission to occupy Cyprus. Hence, with the assurance of occupation for both Austria-Hungary and Britain, their territorial ambitions within the Balkans enough to deescalate the potential of a war. Furthermore, to resolve the issue of Bulgaria which frustrated the whole incident, Bulgaria would be broken up into three parts, which allowed
