

So, what's the difference between all the extended responses across all the papers?

Extended responses for the 10 mark essay from paper 1 (options) and 2 (HL/SL core) are the same - they require you to look at an issue from a variety of perspectives and to synthesize/evaluate well developed case studies. Paper 3b (16 marks) is basically the same as the 10 mark response for papers 1 and 2, only with more emphasis on AO3 (synthesis and evaluation). So, you should spend a little more time bringing in more examples and depth to that response. Paper 3a (12 marks) is the only real outlier. It expects you to go into depth on a specific topic area (e.g. a case study or a process), and, if possible, consider both sides of the argument. Answer the question (according to the command term) with organization and analysis but use case studies more as examples, unless the question calls for something different. ALL extended responses have high expectations regarding your ability to marshal a logically organized response (AO4) and show a command of evidence and geographic terminology (AO1/2). Also, ALL extended responses expect you to draw on the 4 Ps: place, process, power, and possibility.
