Allison, 2021-05-11 We rarely give thought to our bodies until faced with a physical challenge or crisis We have somehow internalized the unbiblical idea that the immaterial aspect of our being our soul or spirit is inherently good while the material aspect our body is at worst inherently evil and at best neutral just a vehicle for our souls to get around So we end up neglecting or disparaging our bodies seeing them as holding us back from spiritual growth and longing for the day we will be free of them But the thing is we don't have bodies we are our bodies And God created us that way for a reason With Scripture as his guide theologian Gregg Allison presents a holistic theology of the human body from conception through eternity to equip us to address pressing contemporary issues related to our bodies including how we express our sexuality whether gender is inherent or constructed the meaning of suffering body image end of life questions and how to live as whole people in a fractured world Sacramentality Renewed Lizette Larson-Miller, 2016-04-11 Tracing developments in sacramental theology over the past twenty-five years this study explores a growing ecumenical dynamism in both the academic study of sacramentality and its centrality in pastoral applications But how does ecumenical excitement in a renewed discovery of sacramental theology fit with different theologies of church and different pastoral beliefs and practices How does the universality of academic accessibility in the form of an expansive ecumenical sharing of perspectives meet the particularities of pastoral reality and ecclesial polity Arguing in favor of fruitful ecumenical conversation this book also focuses on the crucial interaction of ecclesiology liturgical practice and sacramentality which raises the need for a creative tension between the particularities of a given ecclesial system and the catholicity of Christian sacramentality Using Anglican sacramental theologies and Anglicanism as vehicles of exploration this study contributes to an overview of the state of the field of sacramental theology in the twenty first century while challenging the assumption that one size fits all In sacramental theology as in other important areas of Christian life unity in diversity may be the basis for authentic lived sacramentality

Ingalls, 2018-09-17 Contemporary worship music shapes the way evangelical Christians understand worship itself Author Monique M Ingalls argues that participatory worship music performances have brought into being new religious social constellations or modes of congregating Through exploration of five of these modes concert conference church public and networked congregations Singing the Congregation reinvigorates the analytic categories of congregation and congregational music Drawing from theoretical models in ethnomusicology and congregational studies Singing the Congregation reconceives the congregation as a fluid contingent social constellation that is actively performed into being through communal practice in this case the musically structured participatory activity known as worship Congregational music making is thereby recast as a practice capable of weaving together a religious community both inside and outside local institutional churches Congregational music making is not only a means of expressing local concerns and constituting the local religious community it is also a powerful way to identify with far flung individuals institutions and networks that comprise this global religious community The interactions among the congregations reveal widespread conflicts over religious authority carrying far ranging implications for how evangelicals position themselves relative to other groups in North America and beyond     Religion Online August E. Meyers, 2014-12-12 Too many Christians still think that worship is only a Sunday morning activity done inside the church while mission involves how the church engages the outside world But Ruth Meyers argues that a dynamic relationship exists between worship and mission that gathering as God's people includes at its heart our being sent out into the world in God's name Meyers explores this relationship by taking readers through the various parts of the worship service gathering proclaiming the Word praying for the world celebrating the Eucharist and going forth to continue participating in God's mission in the world In each chapter Meyers includes stories of worship practices in different churches and considers how the actions of worship relate integrally to mission Missional Worship Worshipful Mission emphasizes that missional worship is not a set of techniques but rather an approach to worship and congregational life in which God's mission permeates every aspect of what the church does Christian Advocate and Journal and Zion's Herald, 1901

Called to Act Michael W. Hopkins, 2023-09-12 An important work highlighting the theological foundation of social action Christ himself lived in a time of immense social and political turmoil as did his early followers But can those early struggles provide guidance for God's faithful in today's divided world Episcopal priest and peace advocate Michael W Hopkins proves that they can tracing the origins of Christian responsibility all the way back to the indissoluble bond of baptism drawing a clear line between those fraught early days and the turbulent present that Jesus commands Christians to engage in Called to Act peels back the historical and scriptural underpinnings of Christianity to exhume the social obligations inherited by all members of the kingdom of God Through interpretation of Jesus words works and sacraments modern day Christians can begin to reframe their fundamental outlook on and participation in the world working as one to build communities of mutual care Rather than allow differences of opinion or misguided attempts at neutrality to divorce Christians from the necessary work of political and community engagement Hopkins provides compelling scriptural evidence for a new kingdom united not by what has been left undone but by what Christians are called to do for each other
