University Trends Jonathan Coulson,Paul Roberts,Isabelle Taylor,2014-09-15 A university campus is a place with special resonance conjuring images of cloistered quadrangles and wood panelled libraries often echoing centuries of scholarly tradition And yet it is also a place of cutting edge science interactive learning youth vibrancy and energy It is this dual nature which makes the physical environment of a university so dynamic as well as a highly challenging landscape to design and manage successfully Today the scale of the pressures and the rate of change facing higher education institutions are greater than ever Squeezed public spending rising tuition fees and the growing education ambitions of developing nations are set against a backdrop of rapid technological progress and changing pedagogies What are the repercussions for the physical realities of university planning and architecture And how are university campuses adapting to contend with these pressures University Trends introduces the most significant widespread and thought provoking trends in campus design today Part 1 identifies current trends such as starchitecture large scale campus extensions adaptive re use and international branch campuses Part 2 profiles each trend via highly illustrated global case studies of well publicised as well as lesser known projects The essential guide to current and future trends in campus design Mining Country John Sandlos, Arn Keeling, 2021-09-07 Mining has had a significant presence in every part of Canada from the east to west coasts to the far north This book tells the stories of those who built Canada s mining industry It highlights the experiences of the people who lived and worked in mining towns across the country the rise of major mining companies and the emergence of Toronto and Vancouver as centres of global mining finance It also addresses the devastating effects mining has had on Indigenous communities and their land and documents several high profile resistance efforts Mining Country presents fascinating snapshots of Canadian mining past and present from pre contact Indigenous copper mining and trading networks to the famous Cariboo and Klondike Gold Rushes Generously illustrated with more than 150 visuals drawn from every period of mining history this book offers a thorough account of the story behind the industry Rules on Paper, Rules in Practice Edouard Al-Dahdah, Cristina Corduneanu-Huci, Gael Raballand, Myriam Ababsa, Ernest Sergenti, Anya Vodopyanov, 2016-07-25 The primary focus of this book is on a specific outcome of the rule of law the practical enforcement of laws and policies and the determinants of this enforcement or lack thereof Are there significant and persistent differences in implementation across countries Why are some laws and policies more systematically enforced than others Are good laws likely to be enacted and if not what stands in the way We answer these questions using a theoretical framework and detailed empirical data and illustrate with case studies from Morocco Tunisia and Jordan We believe that the best way to understand the variation in the drafting and implementation of laws and policies is to examine the interests and incentives of those responsible for these tasks policymakers and bureaucrats If laws and their enforcement offer concrete benefits to these ruling elites they are more likely to be systematically enforced If they don t implementation is selective discretionary if not nil Our first contribution is in extending the application of the concept of the rule of law beyond its traditional focus on specific organizations like the courts and the police to economic sectors such as customs taxation and land inheritance in a search for a direct causal relationship with economic development outcomes Instead of limiting ourselves to a particular type of organization or a legalistic approach to the rule of law we present a broader theory of how laws are made and implemented across different types of sectors and organizations Our second contribution is in demonstrating how powerful interests affect implementation outcomes The incentives elites have to build and support rule of law institutions derive from the distribution of power in society which is partly a historical given The point we make is that it is not deterministic Realigning the incentive structures for reform among key actors and organizations through accountability and competition can dramatically improve the chances that rule of law institutions will take root On the other hand building the capacity of organizations without first changing institutional incentives is likely to lead to perverse outcomes
