Regional Risk and Security in Japan Glenn D. Hook, Ra Mason, Paul

O'Shea, 2015-05-20 Japan's unusual position in the realm of international politics encapsulates a three fold juxtaposition both in and out of Asia both occupied by and a close ally of the United States and both a key trade partner and a strategic rival of China Whilst international relations theory offers a number of ways to analyse these relations this book instead utilizes the concept of risk to provide an innovative perspective on Japan's relations with China North Korea and the US The book elucidates how risk potential harm and harm are faced disproportionately by certain groups in society This is demonstrated by providing an empirically rich analysis of the domestic implications of security relations with China North Korea and the United States through the presence of US troops in Okinawa Beginning with a theoretical discussion of risk it goes on to demonstrate how the concept of risk adds value to the study of international relations in three senses First the concept helps to break down the boundaries between the international and domestic Second the focus on risk and the everyday directs us to ask basic questions about the costs and benefits of a security policy meant to secure the national population Third what implications do these two points have for governance The question is one of governance as Japan's externally oriented security policy produces domestic insecurity shared disproportionately not equally as this volume makes clear Developing the theory of risk as a tool for understanding international relations this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian politics Japanese politics international relations and security studies as well as to policy makers and practitioners working in the field

Challenges of European External Energy Governance with Emerging Powers Michèle Knodt, Nadine Piefer, 2016-03-03 In a multipolar world with growing demand for energy not least by Emerging Powers such as Brazil India China or South Africa BICS questions of EU external energy governance would at first hand appear to be a high priority Yet reality tells a different story the EU's geographical focus remains on adjacent countries in the European neighbourhood and on issues related to energy security Despite being Strategic Partners and engaging in energy dialogues it seems that the EU is lacking strategic vision and is not perceived as a major actor in energy cooperation with the BICS Thus political momentum for energy cooperation and joint governance of scarce resources is vanishing Resulting from three years of international interdisciplinary research cooperation among academics and practitioners in Europe and the BICS countries within a project funded by the Volkswagen Foundation this volume addresses one of the greatest global challenges Specific focus lies on the bilateral energy dialogues and Strategic Partnerships between the EU and Emerging Powers regarding bilateral inter and transnational energy cooperation Furthermore the analysis provides policy recommendations in order to
