The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) has announced that it will be launching a new initiative to help states and localities improve their health care systems. The initiative is called the "State and Local Health Care System Improvement Program" (SLHCSIP). It is a five-year program that will provide grants to states and localities to help them improve their health care systems. The program will focus on three main areas: improving the quality of care, reducing costs, and increasing access to care. The program will also provide technical assistance and training to states and localities. The program is expected to start in 2010.
