Section: What Causes Air Pollution?

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Many industries and power plants that generate our electricity must burn fuel to get the energy they need. They usually burn fossil fuels. Burning fossil fuels releases huge quantities of sulfur dioxide and nitrogen oxide into the air. Power plants that produce electricity emit at least two-thirds of all sulfur dioxide and more than one-third of all nitrogen oxides that pollute the air.

Some industries also produce VOCs, which are chemical compounds that form toxic fumes. Some of the chemicals used in dry cleaning are sources of VOCs. Oil refineries, chemical manufacturing plants, furniture refinishers, and automobile repair shops also contribute to the VOCs in the air. When people use some of the products that contain VOCs, more VOCs are added to the air.

IDENTIFYING MAIN IDEAS

One reading skill is the ability to identify the main idea of a passage. The main idea is the main focus or key idea. Frequently, a main idea is accompanied by supporting information that offers detailed facts about main ideas.

In the space provided, write the letter of the term or phrase that best completes each statement or best answers each question.

The Real Cost of Cheap Food Michael Carolan,2013-10-30 This challenging but accessible book critically examines the dominant food regime on its own terms by seriously asking whether we can afford cheap food and exploring what exactly cheap food affords us Detailing the numerous ways that food has become reduced to a state such as a price per ounce combination of nutrients yield per acre or calories the book argues for a more contextual understanding of food when debating its affordability The author makes a compelling case for why today s global food system produces just the opposite of what it promises The food produced under this regime is in fact exceedingly expensive Thus meat production and consumption are inefficient uses of resources and contribute to climate change the use of pesticides in industrial scale agriculture may produce cheap food but there are hidden costs to environmental protection human health and biodiversity conservation Many of these costs will be paid for by future generations cheap food today may mean expensive food tomorrow By systematically assessing these costs the book delves into issues related but not limited to international development national security health care industrial meat production organic farming corporate responsibility government subsidies food aid and global commodity markets The book concludes by suggesting ways forward going beyond the usual solutions such as farmers markets community supported agriculture and community gardens Exploding the myth of cheap food requires we have at our disposal a host of practices and policies Some of those proposed and explored include microloans subsidies for consumers vertical agriculture and the democratization of subsidies for producers
