L'art Du Chant Spontané:

Music and the Language of Love Catherine Gordon-Seifert, 2011-04-07 Simple songs or airs in which a male poetic voice either seduces or excoriates a female object were an influential vocal genre of the French Baroque era. In this comprehensive and interdisciplinary study, Catherine Gordon-Seifert analyzes the style of airs which was based on rhetorical devices of lyric poetry and explores the function and meaning of airs in French society, particularly the salons. She shows how airs deployed in both text and music an encoded language that was in sensuous contrast to polite society's cultivation of chaste love, strict gender roles, and restrained discourse.

Creatures of the Air J.Q. Davies, 2023-08-11 An account of nineteenth-century music in Atlantic worlds told through the history of the art's elemental medium, the air. Often experienced as universal and incorporeal, music seems an innocent art form. The air, the very medium by which music constitutes itself, shares with music a claim to invisibility. In Creatures of the Air, J.Q. Davies interrogates these claims, tracing the history of music's elemental media system in nineteenth-century Atlantic worlds. He posits that air is a poetic domain and music is an art of that domain. From West Central African ngombi harps to the European J.S. Bach revival, music expressed elemental truths in the nineteenth century. Creatures of the Air tells these truths through stories about suffocation and breathing, architecture and environmental design, climate strife and racial turmoil. Contributing to elemental media studies, the energy humanities, and colonial histories, Davies shows how music, no longer just an innocent luxury, is implicated in the struggle for control over air as a precious natural resource. What emerges is a complex political ecology of the global nineteenth century and beyond.

Art as experience of the living body / L'art comme expérience du corps vivant Christine Vial Kayser, 2024-01-23 This book analyses the dynamic relationship between art and subjective consciousness following a phenomenological, pragmatist, and enactive approach. It brings out a new approach to the role of the body in art, not as a speculative object or symbolic material, but as the living source of the imaginary. It contains theoretical contributions and case studies taken from various artistic practices: visual art, theatre, literature, and music, Western and Eastern, the latter concerning China, India, and Japan. These contributions allow us to nourish the debate on embodied cognition and aesthetics using theory, philosophy, art history, neuroscience, and the authors' personal experience as artists or spectators. According to the Husserlian method of reduction and pragmatist introspection, they postulate that listening to bodily sensations, cramps, heartbeats, impulsive movements, eye orientation can unravel the thread of subconscious experience, both active and affective, that emerges in the encounter between a subject and an artwork, an encounter which, following John Dewey, we deem to be a case study for life in general. Ce livre analyse la relation dynamique entre l'art et la conscience subjective selon une approche phénoménologique, pragmatiste et enactive. Il vise à faire merger une nouvelle approche du rôle du corps dans l'art, non pas comme objet spéculatif ou matériau symbolique, mais comme source vivante de l'imaginaire. Les contributions théoriques et les études de cas sont prises de diverses pratiques artistiques, arts visuels, théâtre, littérature et musique occidentales et orientales, ces dernières
