Resources in Education ,2001 Energy Research Abstracts ,1990 Western Electrician ,1902 The Race for the Atomic Bomb Norman Ridley,2023-04-06 On 19 December 1938 Otto Hahn working at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Chemistry in Berlin conducted an experiment the results of which baffled him It took his migr collaborator Lise Meitner to explain that he had split an atom of uranium which at the time seemed to defy all known laws of physics When Neils Bohr took this news to the United States it became clear to scientists there that these results opened a completely new and for some horrifying possibility of energy production that could be used for both peaceful and military purposes Scientists in Germany France Britain and the US began to delve deeper into the implications But it was the British government that was the first to explicitly describe how the splitting of the atom might be utilized to create a practical weapon of fearsome power France by then had been occupied by the Germans and most of their nuclear scientists had fled to Britain For their part the Germans who for a time were at the very forefront of nuclear research had weakened their own scientific ranks by hounding many of their best scientists who had fled persecution under the draconian Nazi racial laws They still retained however possibly the ablest nuclear scientist of them all in Werner Heisenberg who set about developing his own program for nuclear power British scientists made extensive progress before realizing that translating their laboratory results into the vast industrial enterprise required to build a bomb was way beyond the nation s stretched resources The government agreed to hand over all the UK s research findings to America in return for a share of the spoils The United States for its part was impressed with British results and invested enormous sums of money and resources into what became known as the Manhattan Project in a concerted effort to build a bomb before the end of the war For much of the war the Soviets showed little enthusiasm for the sort of investment required to build their own bomb However with an eye to the future they established an extensive espionage network both in Britain and America Following the German surrender there was still the problem of Japan and the race continued to develop a working bomb to accelerate the end of the war both to save Allied lives and to prevent Soviet expansion into northern China and the Japanese mainland It was a race that the Unites States won It was also a race that ushered in a new Cold War Reviewing the Living Environment Biology Rick Hallman,Woody,2004-04-19 This review book provides a complete review of a one year biology course that meets the NYS Living Environment Core Curriculum Includes four recent Regents exams Creating Strategic Partnerships Marilyn J. Amey,Pamela L. Eddy,2023-07-03 What are the characteristics and conditions that lead to successful educational partnerships What can we learn from partnerships that fail cannot be sustained over time or cease to benefit their partners This book serves as a guide to the successful implementation of partnerships It provides the context and tools for readers who are responding to the increasing demands of policy makers funders and institutional leaders to use partnerships to address local state and federal issues achieve external mandates meet public or internal agendas or pursue international

data be incorporated into our existing global food safety infrastructure How will massive NGS data be stored and shared globally What bioinformatics solutions will be used to analyse and optimise these large data sets This Research Topic discusses recent advances in the field of food microbiology made possible through the use of NGS Integrative Learning Daniel Blackshields,James Cronin,Bettie Higgs,Shane Kilcommins,Marian McCarthy,Anthony Ryan,2014-11-13 Current teaching learning and assessment practices can lead students to believe that courses within a programme are self sufficient and separate Integrative Learning explores this issue and considers how intentional learning helps students become integrative thinkers who can see connections in seemingly disparate information and draw on a wide range of knowledge to make decisions Written by international contributors who engaged reflectively with their teaching and their students learning the book seeks to develop a shared language of integrative learning encouraging students to adapt skills learned in one situation to problems encountered in another and make autonomous connections across courses between experiences and throughout their lives More informed teachers can help students develop the necessary attributes for intentional learning which include having a sense of purpose fitting fragmentary information into a learning framework understanding something of their own learning processes asking probing questions reflecting on their own choices and knowing when to ask for help Integrative Learning draws on international research and vast studies to provide the reader with the resources to ensure access to a unified learning experience The book discusses conceptual and technical tools necessary for facilitating integrative learning across a range of disciplines as well as providing learning pedagogies and considers integrative learning in the context of the relevance of higher education in the complexity and uncertainty of the 21st century It will appeal to academics and researchers in the field of higher education as well as those generating higher education curriculums The American Biology Teacher ,2000 Race to the Bottom Michael V. McGill,2015-04-03 How did the country that invented the modern public school end up embracing policies that weaken it What alternatives are there to current corporate reform policies How can we give America s children an education that will truly prepare them and our nation for the challenges of tomorrow In Race to the Bottom McGill successfully traces the emergence of corporate reform and describes how its tenets run counter to what he believes are the key elements of a high quality education McGill draws from a wealth of experience as a school superintendent for over 40 years including his tenure in Scarsdale during the 2001 district wide boycott of New York State standardized tests Showing how strong leaders working with teachers and the community have been able to strengthen schools the author offers a model of school reform that will prepare students for the 21st Century What Works in Schools Robert J. Marzano,2003 Schools can and do affect student achievement and this book recommends specific and attainable action steps to implement successful strategies culled from the wealth of research data Resources in Education ,1997 ENC Focus ,2001 Municipal Journal ,1914 Mathematics and Science Across the Curriculum ,2002 Intergenerational Pathways to a Sustainable Society Matthew Kaplan,Mariano Sanchez,Jaco

Hoffman,2016-11-26 This volume explores intergenerational practices and their impact on social sustainability with an emphasis on developing programmatic efforts to address profound social challenges such as underperforming educational and work related systems failing support systems for dependent or vulnerable populations and community renewal and regeneration efforts To this end the core argument is to present issues related to age aging and generations not only as problems but as catalysts to facilitate improved quality of life for all generations For societies to be sustainable all generations must coexist at any given time and across time non contemporary generations Hence the ultimate vision presented here is one of intergenerational sustainability as both a conceptual tool and as a call for action Intergenerational pathways are introduced as strategies for improving health and well being across the lifespan strengthening families improving under performing educational and work related systems and helping to build more cohesive caring communities Reviewing some of the historical factors and developments influencing intergenerational studies as well as presenting regional case studies and comparative research this book presents successful models that may be applied to everyday multigenerational practices in institutions such as education family life housing healthcare employment and community development The result is an accessible resource for students academics policymakers community leaders and citizens concerned with creating opportunities amidst challenging demographic and social changes Engineering News-record
