

CHAPTER 3: DECISION ANALYSIS

● Six Steps in Decision Making [PAOPMD]

1. Clearly define the problem at hand.
2. List the possible alternatives.
3. Identify the possible outcomes or states of nature.
4. List the payoff (typically profit) of each combination of alternatives and outcomes.
5. Select one of the mathematical decision theory models.
6. Apply the model and make your decision.

● Types of Decision-Making Environments [CUR]

1. Decision making under certainty — will choose the alternative that will maximize their well-being or will result in the best outcome.
2. Decision making under uncertainty — decision maker does not know the probabilities of the various outcomes.
3. Decision making under risk — decision maker knows the probability of occurrence of each outcome.

● Decision Making Under Uncertainty (Criterion) [OPRLR]

1. Optimistic (maximax) — aiming for maximum or the best alternative
2. Pessimistic (maximin) — guarantees the payoff will be at least the maximin value (the best of the worst values).
3. Criterion of realism (Hurwicz) — weighted average, compromise between an optimistic and a pessimistic decision.
4. Equally likely (Laplace) — involves finding the average payoff for each alternative and selecting the alternative with the best or highest average.
5. Minimax regret — Opportunity loss refers to the difference between optimal profit or payoff for a given state of nature and the actual payoff received for a particular decision.

● Decision Making Under Risk

- Is a decision situation in which several possible states of nature may occur, and the probabilities of these states of nature are known.

1. Expected Monetary Value (EMV) — is the weighted sum of possible payoffs for each alternative.

$$EMV(\text{alternative}) = \sum X_i P(X_i)$$

where

X_i = payoff for the alternative in state of nature i
 $P(X_i)$ = probability of achieving payoff X_i (i.e., probability of state of nature i)
 Σ = summation symbol

If this were expanded, it would become

$$\begin{aligned} EMV(\text{alternative}) &= (\text{payoff in first state of nature}) \times (\text{probability of first state of nature}) \\ &+ (\text{payoff in second state of nature}) \times (\text{probability of second state of nature}) \\ &+ \dots + (\text{payoff in last state of nature}) \times (\text{probability of last state of nature}) \end{aligned}$$

Perfect Information (EVPI) — places an upper bound on what to pay for

2. Expected Value of

Making Hard Choices in Journalism Ethics David E. Boeyink, Sandra L. Borden, 2010-04-05 This book teaches students how to make the difficult ethical decisions that journalists routinely face By taking a case based approach the authors argue that the best way to make an ethical decision is to look closely at a particular situation rather than looking first to an abstract set of ethical theories or principles This book goes beyond the traditional approaches of many other journalism textbooks by using cases as the starting point for building ethical practices Casuistry the technical name of such a method develops provisional guidelines from the bottom up by reasoning analogically from an easy ethical case the paradigm to harder ethical cases Thoroughly grounded in actual experience this method admits more nuanced judgments than most theoretical approaches

Managing Complexity in the Public Services Philip Haynes, 2015-03-24 The application of complexity theory to management and the social sciences has been a key development in theory and practice over the last decade This approach questions the possibility of finding universal methods of practice and proposes a pragmatic and humanistic management style that evolves out of a reflective method The focus is on practitioners observing patterns of similarity and being adaptable in decision making Bringing complexity theory into management reveals the importance of organizational culture and effective communication because people their values and their objectives are at the heart of this method Information technology provides a framework for complex communication and knowledge use but it cannot replace highly developed professional negotiations and cooperation This book argues that the complexity of the public service world limits the usefulness of classical and rational scientific management approaches such as New Public Management Excessive marketization threatens a collaborative approach and overly rigid approaches to performance management and strategic management can be dysfunctional Managing Complexity in the Public Services 2nd Edition advances a method of management practice that copes with the stark realities of the complex and unpredictable public policy world It develops pragmatic management practices from action research that will be valuable to both academics and practitioners The result is a new value based practice for the post crisis public service world

Controlling Costs: Strategic Issues in Health Care Management Huw T.O. Davies, Manouche Tavakoli, 2017-03-02

Controlling costs in health care is rarely something that can be tackled in isolation. Cost control invariably interacts with issues of quality and health care access. Thus this diverse collection of papers is concerned not just with costs but more importantly with value. Both macro and micro concerns are covered. At the macro level health care reforms and especially the marketisation of health care systems receive some attention. Papers explore how policy prescriptions get translated and modified during implementation and assess how these prescriptions impact on both the incentive context and subsequent patterns of service delivery. Resource allocation within bureaucratic health systems continues to pose problems and these too are analysed with new solutions being proposed. At the micro level a number of contributors wrestle with the difficulties of carrying out the economic evaluation of new drugs and technologies. In each case the wider theoretical and practical implications of balancing costs and benefits are explored. This collection should prove helpful to health care policy specialists, managers and researchers interested in gaining a feel for the real world application of cost focused health services research.
