Science SOL 5.9- Energy Resources

Guidance: These resources are considered renewable and infinite and, in a practical sense, never run out.

Energy cannot be created or destroyed, but it can change from one form to another. The ability of certain energy sources to either last, or be replaced, is one of the factors that determine whether they are renewable or not.

Types of Energy

The energy we have that comes from nature is called renewable energy.

Renewable energy sources are those that replenish themselves over a period of time. They are called renewable because they have the ability to be replaced. They are called renewable because they are replaced by nature.

Petroleum	Coal	Nuclear Power

Renewable energy sources come from resources that are replenished naturally and continue to exist. They are called renewable because they are replaced by nature.

Wind Energy	Water Energy	Solar Energy

Conservation of Energy

Energy can neither be created nor destroyed. It can only change from one form to another. This is the law of conservation of energy.

There are many ways to conserve energy. In the home, we can save energy by turning off the lights and unplugging electronic devices when we are not using them. We can also conserve energy by using energy-efficient appliances.

Renewable energy resources are those that are replenished naturally and continue to exist. They are called renewable because they are replaced by nature.
