Lesser, 2012-12-06 Epilepsy is among the most common scourges afflicting the health of humankind and perhaps the most terrifying In one form or another it is suffered by one in every hundred people on earth with a disproportionate prevalence at the early and late extremes of life There is nothing sacred or sanctifying about it in spite of Hippoc rates terming epilepsy The Sacred Disease in a famous treatise There is nothing ennobling about it despite its occasional designation as a noble disorder by virtue of its having affected the likes of Alexander of Macedon Julius Caesar and other persons of royal lineage From time to time epilepsy is hailed as a condition which is artistically inspirational Fyodor Dostoyevsky's dependence on his own personal experience with complex partial epilepsy as a source of imagery in the transfiguration scenes of The Brothers Karamazov and as a source of experience in The Idiot is often cited in this respect In fact for all its victims in human history epilepsy has been a sad burden which has disrupted and shortened life causing suffering and castigation for the duration of their terrestrial journey      Seizures and Epilepsy Jerome Engel,1989 A comprehensive text for practicing and training physicians synthesizing the current knowledge of both basic and clinical science on epileptic seizures and disorders and the problems of people with epilepsy Introduces the terminology and classification schemes generally used and places the disorder in historical and epidemiological perspective Discusses the basic mechanisms of the phenomenon and the causes of human epilepsy Describes the phenomenology of seizures syndromes and other epilepsy related disturbances Presents the management of problems and considers diagnosis treatment and psycho social intervention Cross referenced but only to chapter numbers Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR experiences of epilepsy is suggested both by the interviews and by the range of terms for seizures Petit Mal Grand Mal auras fits absences The principal difficulty for many people with epilepsy is not the medical condition but the social stigma A person with epilepsy has to cope with discrimination in obtaining a job insurance or a driver's license and he or she may be cautious about revealing this disabling condition to an employer or even a spouse People with epilepsy may manage information about themselves and their lapses and look for safe places like restrooms where they can be alone should a seizure begin Many of those interviewed complained of overreactions to seizures by colleagues or bystanders epilepsy patients were embarrassed at having provoked a public crisis or were annoyed at waking up in a hospital emergency room This is a book for people who have epilepsy for their families and friends for health care professionals who deal with chronic illnesses and for students of medical sociology and the sociology of deviance Author note Joseph W Schneider is Associate Professor of Sociology at Drake University P Peter Conrad is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Brandeis University
