Autoimmuno-Anti-Tumour Immunity (AATI) - Understanding the Immune Responses against “Self” & “Altered-self” Fang-Ping Huang, 2017-05-16 The brief description of tumours being wounds that do not heal by Dr Harold F Dworak nearly three decades ago N Engl J Med 1986 has provided not only a vivid illustration of neoplastic diseases in general but also in retrospect conceptually a plausible immunological definition of cancers. Based on our current understanding in the field it could have even a multi dimensional meaning attached with. This relates to several important issues which need to be addressed further i.e. in terms of a close link between chronic inflammation and tumorigenesis widely observed clinical and experimental evidence of immunity against tumours versus the highly immunosuppressive tumour microenvironment being associated and their underlying immunological mechanisms oncogenic basis as well as the true causal relationship in question. Recent findings from studies into the pathogenesis of autoimmunity and more importantly the mechanisms which protect against it have offered some new insights for our understanding in this direction. Chronic or persistent autoimmune like inflammatory conditions are evidently associated with tumor development. The important question is about their true causal relationship. Chronic or persistent inflammation has been shown to contribute directly to tumour development by triggering neoplastic transformation and production of inflammatory mediators which could promote cancer cell survival proliferation and invasion. On the other hand tumours are mutated self tissue cells to which the host immune system is largely tolerized otherwise. Although the mutations may give rise to the expression of tumour specific antigens TSA or tumour associated antigens TAA most of these TSAs TAAs are found to be poor immunogens. The ongoing inflammatory conditions may therefore reflect a desperate attempt of the host immune system to mount anti tumour responses though ineffectively being a consequence of the continuous yet largely futile triggering by those poorly immunogenic TSAs TAAs. Furthermore during autoimmune or overtly persistent immunological responses many regulatory mechanisms are triggered in the host in attempts to limit the ongoing harmful inflammatory reactions. Such a negative feedback regulation is known to be crucial in preventing normal individuals from immune mediated diseases As a result of the negative feedback loop however an excessive production of anti inflammatory or immunosuppressive molecules followed by the exhaustion of the immune effector cells may instead lower the ability of the host immune system to mount specific anti tumor responses allowing the escape of tumour or mutated cells from immunosurveillance This may also help to explain why the most effective way to enhance host immunity against cancer is by targeting the negative arm of immune regulation In this Frontiers Research Topic we aim to gather current views from experts in these inherent overlapping fields of oncology autoimmunity and tumour immunology and to make them available to our potential readership who may be particularly interested in this cutting edge area By understanding how the immune system is normally regulated why dysregulation of which may cause the immunological oncological related diseases we also encourage further discussions as to how the so called self reactivity autoimmune responses can be alternatively switched on and redirected immunologically or molecularly for effective cancer treatment

Environmental Impacts & Risks of Deep-Sea Mining: Recommendations for Exploitation Regulations Ana Colaço, Marina R. Cunha, Annemiek Vink, Lenaick Menot, Miguel Caetano, Matthias

Haeckel, 2025-09-24. After more than 20 years mining of mineral resources such as polymetallic nodules and massive sulfides in the deep sea is back on the agenda of many countries and companies in their quest for metals for the energy transition and high tech products. In this course the past 10 years have seen an immense increase of exploration licenses issued by the International Seabed Authority ISA which administers and controls activities at the ocean floor beyond national jurisdiction generally termed the Area. The seven pilot investors have renewed their exploration licenses in the Clarion Clipperton Zone CCZ for another five year term after which they will need to apply for an exploitation license or return their contracted claim. Thus ISA is currently developing the regulatory framework for the exploitation of seafloor mineral resources which includes amongst several other issues legislation to ensure effective protection of the marine environment from harmful effects according to UNCLOS article 145. In order to support decision making for ISA's regulations the European project MiningImpact funded through the Joint Programming Initiative Healthy and Productive Seas and Oceans JPIO has carried out extensive environmental research in the eastern exploration license areas for polymetallic nodules in the CCZ. At the heart of the project were two research cruises which established the environmental baselines in the German and Belgian license areas of the CCZ and independently monitored the first test of an industrial prototype nodule collector vehicle conducted by the Belgian company DEME GSR. The monitoring program focused on studying the direct impacts in the trial areas and the dispersal and redeposition of the suspended sediment plume. Topics covered during the monitoring included habitat characterization natural variability disturbance effects temporal evolution faunal communities and the development of techniques for rapid biodiversity assessment. The MiningImpact project also initiated a restoration experiment with artificial hard substrates which aims at exploring the possibility to enable and accelerate the recolonization of areas affected by mining Engineered Materials Abstracts ,1993-10 Oxford Assessment Success Natural Sciences Wilma Bezuidenhout,2008
