Cultivating Knowledge, Building Language Nonie K. Lesaux, Julie Russ Harris, 2015 What is the very best instruction for English learners How do we capitalize on and further develop the linguistic knowledge and skill of this segment of society Nonie Lesaux and Julie Harris are exceedingly well qualified to address these questions On the cutting edge of EL instruction their combination of research knowledge and practical experience makes for guidance that can be trusted and implemented in classrooms throughout the country Nell Duke Series Editor University of Michigan In today's linguistically diverse elementary classrooms research suggests that a universal approach to building academic vocabulary and conceptual knowledge holds huge promise for closing the opportunity gaps among English learners In Cultivating Knowledge Building Language Nonie Lesaux and Julie Harris present a knowledge based approach to literacy instruction that supports young English learners development of academic content and vocabulary knowledge and sets them up for reading success Teaching and Researching Reading William Grabe, Fredricka L. Stoller, 2019-09-24 Now in its third edition Teaching and Researching Reading charts the field of reading first and second language systematically and coherently for the benefit of language teaching practitioners students and researchers This volume provides background on how reading works and how reading differs for second language learners The volume includes reading curriculum principles evidence based teaching ideas and a multi step iterative process for conducting meaningful action research on reading related topics The volume outlines 14 projects for teacher adaptation and use as well as numerous new and substantially expanded resource materials that can be used for both action research and classroom instruction Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading Peter Afflerbach, 2015-08-11 The central unifying theme of this state of the art contribution to research on literacy is its rethinking and reconceptualization of individual differences in reading Previous research focused on cognitive components of reading signaled the need for ongoing work to identify relevant individual differences in reading to determine the relationships of individual differences to reading development and to account for interactions among individual differences Addressing developments in each of these areas this volume also describes affective individual differences and the environments in which individual differences in reading may emerge operate interact and change The scant comprehensive accounting of individual differences in reading is reflected in the nature of reading instruction programs today the outcomes that are expected from successful teaching and learning and the manner in which reading development is assessed An important contribution of this volume is to provide prima facie evidence of the benefits of broad conceptualization of the ways in which readers differ The Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading moves the field forward by encompassing cognitive non cognitive contextual and methodological concerns Its breadth of coverage serves as both a useful summary of the current state of knowledge and a guide for future work in this area
