and environment is in danger due to the release of continuously emerging potential pollutants by anthropogenic activities. Though many attempts have been made to eradicate and remediate these noxious elements, thousands of xenobiotics, relatively new entities, emerge every day, thus worsening the situation. Primitive microorganisms are highly adaptable to toxic environments and can reduce the load of toxic elements by their successful transformation and remediation. This completely updated new edition presents many new technologies and techniques and includes theoretical context and case studies in every chapter. Microbial Biodegradation and Bioremediation: Techniques and Case Studies for Environmental Pollution, Second Edition, serves as a single source reference and encompasses all categories of pollutants and their applications in a convenient, comprehensive format for researchers in environmental science and engineering, pollution, environmental microbiology, and biotechnology. Describes many novel approaches of microbial bioremediation, including genetic engineering, metagenomics, microbial fuel cell technology, biosurfactants, and biofilm-based bioremediation. Introduces relatively new hazardous elements and their bioremediation practices, including oil spills, military waste, water, greenhouse gases, polythene wastes, and more. Provides the most advanced techniques in the field of bioremediation, including insilico approach, microbes as pollution indicators, use of bioreactors, techniques of pollution monitoring, and more. Completely updated and expanded to include topics and techniques such as genetically engineered bacteria, environmental health, nanoremediation, heavy metals, contaminant transport, and in situ and ex situ methods. The Plant-based and Vegan Handbook Yanoula Athanassakis, Renan Larue, William O'Donohue, 2024-09-17
 The Plant-based and Vegan Handbook is the first of its kind to bring together interlocking and sometimes conflicting perspectives focused on veganism and plant-based living. As an interdisciplinary volume, the noted contributors are from the fields of medicine, psychiatry, environmental studies, sociology, marine ecology, philosophy, agriculture, psychology, animal studies, religion, economics, literature, business, and law. Despite a range of individual preferences, these authors advance a scientific argument for a societal move away from the current model of human and nonhuman animal relationships. In our Anthropocene era, experts not only debate about how human beings will survive on Earth but more particularly are more concerned with how they will thrive. As evidenced by the authors in this collection, it will involve a reconsideration of the way our species relates to the planet and to other species. This volume can serve as a critical reference work especially for students and scholars working in both emerging and established fields such as psychology, medicine, animal studies, food studies, environmental studies, philosophy, animal ethics, and marine ecology.
